Old Folks Home Razed For Housing Development

MAKE WAY FOR PROGRESS — Little is left of the Pickaway County Old Folks Home. The ancient structure, constructed in 1873, has been demolished to make way for a housing development. Contractors began tearing down the building last week. Nothing is being salvaged.

The once proud Pickaway County Old Folks Home has been reduced to a pile of rubble to make room for a housing development.

The home property is now owned by Robert Cole, who purchased it from the county.

Reds Shell Town, Bases In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners unleashed a series of shelling attacks up and down South Vietnam Tuesday night, firing rockets and mortars into three air bases, three provincial capitals and two district towns.

It was one of the biggest nights for the enemy gunners in two months. Allied military spokesmen said over-all casualties and damage were light. But an unspecified number of Americans were killed at the big Cam Ranh Bay air base 193 miles northeast of Saigon, and more Americans were wounded at the Phu Cat air base 100 miles up the coast from Cam Ranh Bay.

Enemy rockets also hit Holloway air field in the central highlands, where both U.S. and South Vietnamese personnel are stationed; the provincial capitals of Pleiku City and Ban Me Thuot in the central highlands and Quang Ngai on the central coast, and two district towns in the Mekong Delta.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said there were no casualties or damage at Holloway field, but two Vietnamese civilians were killed and 16 were wounded in the attacks on the cities and towns.

Nearly 100 enemy rocket and mortar attacks have been reported in the past four days, the heaviest such assaults since early October. A U.S. spokesman said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong apparently were taking advantage of the current moonless nights.

A U.S. spokesman reported that a U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber crashed today in the lower Laotian panhandle; presumably it was bombing the Ho Chi Minh supply trail. The spokesman said both crewmen were rescued in good condition but the cause of the crash was not known.

The U.S. Command also announced the crash of an Army helicopter 29 miles northeast of Pleiku, with four Americans killed. The cause of that crash also was not known.

South Vietnamese infantrymen advanced through mangrove swamps and bamboo thickets on the edge of the U Minh forest today in a new sweep into the Viet Cong's long-time lair in Vietnam's deep south.

GI Says He Saw Calley Shooting Viet Prisoners

U.S. Expands Viet Attack Policy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has expanded its policy on air attacks against North Vietnam in what appears to be deliberate strategy of increasing pressure on the enemy while continuing U.S. troop withdrawals.

Officials report a toughening attitude by administration leaders toward North Vietnam over the past months. The reasons appear to include frustration over lack of progress in the Paris Peace talks, the prisoner of war issue, and a determination to prevent Hanoi from taking advantage of declining American troop strength in Southeast Asia.

The United States ended bombing of North Vietnam Oct. 31, 1968 and until earlier this year air strikes against the North were explained as retaliation for attacks on unarmed U.S. reconnaissance planes.

In recent months, however, Defense Department spokesmen have expanded the reasons to include "protective reaction" against North Vietnamese rocket batteries firing at planes over neighboring Laos, interdiction of supplies moving down to South Vietnam, Cambodia or Laos and retaliation for terror shelling of South Vietnamese cities.

Furthermore, officials privately confirm the policy of expanding retaliatory strikes when possible to include other targets in the general area to destroy supply buildups.

Officials have also made clear that American combat planes flying protection for bombers operating against enemy positions in Laos can fire at missile bases in North Vietnam when they detect enemy radar locking on the bomber.

Neither President Nixon nor his spokesmen have pulled all these reasons together into any formal new policy statement on bombing the North.

And no responsible informant in the administration suggests that Nixon has any intention of resuming the bombings President Lyndon B. Johnson finally brought to an end after bitter and sometimes violent public controversy.

On the other hand, those familiar with the President's thinking on his broad policy of withdrawal from combat in Southeast Asia says he is following simultaneously two principles.

One is Vietnamization, involving replacement of withdrawing U.S. forces by American trained, armed, and financed South Vietnamese forces.

The other principle is sometimes expressed by insiders as "don't let the enemy take us for granted."

Gunner Claims He Refused To Take Part

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A machine gunner in Lt. William L. Calley Jr.'s platoon has testified he saw Calley herd a group of unresisting Vietnamese into a ditch and shoot at them. He said the lieutenant asked him to use his weapon on the unarmed men, women and children.

"I refused," the young, ex-soldier said.

Robert Maples' testimony Tuesday at Calley's court-martial was the first time any witness—of 26 who have appeared—said he saw the lieutenant turn his gun on civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968.

Maples was to face cross-examination when court resumes today. He had been on the stand a few minutes when the trial recessed Tuesday.

The 27-year-old Calley, charged with killing 102 civilians in the South Vietnamese hamlet, sat unmoving, his eyes never leaving the witness. At times he made notations on a pad, but mostly he sat forward, hands folded, looking straight at Maples.

Maples, 22, of Freehold, N.J., said he and others had moved through the village and had come to a big ditch.

"Calley came over to the ditch," Maples told the court. "He herded the rest of them (Vietnamese) to a hole where him and (Paul) Meadlo was firing into the hole. Meadlo was crying." Asked to describe the people, Maples said: "There were women, babies, and a couple of men."

How did he know Meadlo was crying? "I saw him."

Meadlo, 23, of Terre Haute, Ind., has publicly admitted killing 35 to 40 people.

It was at the ditch that the government charges Calley shot at least 70 people.

Like previous witnesses, Maples testified the platoon was taken to the western edge of My Lai by helicopter, that the men then flushed villagers from their huts—hootches—pushing them forward through My Lai.

Maples' testimony was given in a monotone, sometime barely audible in the 60-seat courtroom.

Maples, now a warehouseman at a storage firm, said he didn't know how many people were in the ditch.

Another member of Calley's 1st Platoon, Rennard Doines, 23, of Fort Worth, Tex., said that after entering the village with guns blazing at livestock and dogs, the men began taking prisoners.

"Most of them were women, children and old men," he said. Doines said he gathered 10 to 15 of the Vietnamese escorted them up the trail and left them with Calley.

Police Probe Cincy Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — The body of Mrs. Deborah Robbins, 21, was found late Tuesday night in a row of shrubbery off a street in the Evanston section of the city. Mrs. Robbins lived in the nearby Avondale section.

Police said she apparently had been strangled and then dragged into the shrubbery. The officers also said they are questioning a man in the case but no charges have been filed.

Witnesses told police they saw two men alight from an automobile and drop the body in the shrubbery.

Motorist Killed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Harold Anderson, 43, of suburban Oregon, was killed Tuesday in a car-truck collision on the Detroit-Toledo Expressway north of Toledo. His car hit the rear of the truck, police said.

Council Delays Passage Of Codification Ordinance

Circleville City Council breezed through one of its briefest sessions ever Tuesday, passing two ordinances, holding one for further study before action and another for a third reading.

The codification ordinance was not read for the third time last night at the request of city councilman Frank Barnhill. Barnhill felt the legislators needed more time to study the codification of the city ordinances.

David Crawford cautioned his fellow councilmen not to delay the codification ordinance too long. He pointed out the city will realize more money in fines and court costs from criminal cases prosecuted under city codes after the ordinance is passed.

An ordinance transferring $1,400 from the general fund to pay attorney Kenneth Robbins was approved after the third reading. Robbins represented John Smith in the income tax litigation case in which the court decision was in favor of Smith.

AN ordinance appropriating $2,400 from the capital improvement fund and transferring it to the police department equipment fund was passed after the second reading. The funds are needed to pay for civil disturbance equipment purchased by the department, such as riot guns, tear gas equipment and protective equipment for police officers.

Chief Robert Temple was on hand at the meeting and told councilmen he hoped the department never had to use the equipment. However, he explained that the department had to be ready to cope with riots and other civil disturbances and that his men had all been trained in the use of the equipment.

Reds Busy At Summit In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Communist leaders of the seven Warsaw Pact countries met today in East Berlin for a hastily assembled summit conference to demonstrate solidarity behind Walter Ulbricht's East German regime.

Soviet party general secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and the leaders of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary arrived in damp, cloudy weather Tuesday evening, some braving marginal flying conditions.

Ulbricht, the 77-year-old East German party and government chief, met them all at the airport.

The meeting was expected to last two or three days and to produce a joint declaration calling for recognition of East Germany as a sovereign state and early convening of the all-European security conference the Russians proposed months ago.

Apparently the idea was to announce Communist conditions for an East-West accord in Europe before the end Friday of the current North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels and before two other events:

1. West German Chancellor Willy Brandt's trip to Warsaw next weekend to sign a treaty confirming the present border between Poland and East Germany.

2. The next meeting of the Big Four ambassadors on Berlin Dec. 10.

Egypt Blasts Boat Sinking

Israelis Claim
4 Men Spying

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt charged today that Israel breached their cease-fire with a "criminal act against unarmed civilians" by sinking an Egyptian boat in the Gulf of Suez. The Israelis claimed the four men in the boat were spying and smuggling hashish.

The Israeli military command said an Israeli patrol boat sank the Egyptian motorboat last Saturday night off the Israeli-held eastern shore of the gulf. It said three bodies were recovered, one had documents proving the men were collecting military intelligence, and the fourth man went down with the boat.

Cairo Radio contended that only "unarmed civilian fishing boats operate in this area." The broadcast denied that the army or the intelligence service had boats there.

An Israeli spokesman speculated that the men may have received the hashish they had as payment for intelligence to be collected. He said that such combined Egyptian missions were not uncommon.

He said the patrol boat ordered the Egyptian craft to halt as it approached the Sinai Peninsula shore, but the command was ignored. The Israelis then fired warning shots, the spokesman continued, and the Egyptians tried to escape.

It was the most serious incident since the guns were silenced along the Suez Canal north of the gulf by the ceasefire Aug. 7. Only minor bursts of gunfire have been reported across the canal with no casualties to either side.

King Hussein of Jordan, the third nation that is party to the truce, left on Tuesday for a fund-raising trip to Europe and the United States.

Piloting his own Caravelle jet, Hussein flew to Saudi Arabia to request help from King Faisal to offset more than $70 million in subsidies to Jordan which Libya and Kuwait canceled during the Jordanian civil war in September.

Nixon Bars $107 Million In Pork-Barrel Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has clamped a temporary freeze on some $107 million for dams, flood control and other waterworks projects contained in what he once called an overstuffed pork-barrel bill from Congress.

The freeze ties up most or all initial construction money for 56 projects across the country, including the controversial Central Arizona Project, and non-construction money for dozens of other projects.

Nixon's Office of Management and Budget said Tuesday the money is being held back only until the President decides in the next few weeks whether to continue the projects at this year's spending level in next year's budget.

The budget office pointed to Nixon's statement when he signed Congress' $5.2 billion public works money bill Oct. 7 that he was considering ways to minimize what he called the "inflationary and unnecessary" impact of 65 new projects the congressmen had added.

Nixon said he was deeply concerned about the bill's impact on future spending. He said the 37 new construction and construction projects he had asked ultimately would cost $1.3 million while the 102 Congress approved would cost $4.5 billion.

Nixon said at the time he was considering deferring the projects added by Congress, as well as freezing funds for them. But administration spokesmen stressed Tuesday the President could decide to release all money for the projects after the temporary freeze or make only moderate cutbacks.

The President's budget office said the temporary freeze is on initial construction money Nixon asked for 19 new projects and on all money Congress added to the administration's request, for both new and old projects.

It said this totals about $70 million for Army Corps of Engineers projects, including flood control and navigation channels; $30 million for Bureau of Reclamation power, irrigation and municipal water projects, and $7.4 million for Tennessee Valley Authority projects.

Officer Suspended Following Arrest

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sergeant David Lee Planitz, 42, was suspended by the suburban Fairfax police department following his arrest Tuesday by Cincinnati police on charges of possession of burglary tools.

Planitz, a six-year veteran, was arrested after his house was searched. Police said he was held in connection with two other men arrested Monday night for tampering with a night deposit box at the Madisonville branch of the Fifth Third Bank. They were using Planitz' car.

One change in fiscal policy came Tuesday when the maximum interest rate on FHA- and VA-insured home mortgages was reduced from 8 1/2 to 8 percent.

gasoline and car price boosts and wage increases in the automobile, airline and construction industries. It said a proposed wage settlement in the railroad industry might contribute to inflation.

The after-the-fact tone of the report raised doubts in many quarters that the administration move into "jawboning," the use of presidential pressure on wage and price increases.

The council said the government now will aim "more vigorously at expansion" and cautioned that its policy would be hampered by a race between management and labor for higher profits and pay.

"If everyone in his turn gets as big a wage or price increase as the biggest obtained by others during the height of the inflation, the inflation will go on endlessly," the alert said.

AFL-CIO President George Meany lambasted the alert as one "heavily weighted against wage increases for workers, but is very solicitous about profits of business—reporting only that profit margins increased this year and 'some further rise is to be expected'."

He said the alert's attack on the wage settlement between General Motors and the United Auto Workers was unwarranted.

"It is clear that this settlement," the report said, "if generalized throughout the economy, would crowd further upward costs per unit of output and, therefore, the price level."

Nixon Shies From Direct Economic Attack

By BILL NEIKIRK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a tougher, more specific inflation alert, the White House still is shying away from using direct presidential influence where it counts—on pending wage and price increases.

Clerk Reports Court Business

Thirty-five court cases were filed during November in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. Broken down, these consist of 15 domestic relations cases, six other civil matters and 14 criminal suits.

A total of 43 cases were disposed of during the month — 19 by court trial, two civil issues by jury and 22 settled or dismissed outside of the court. Of these last, criminal and domestic conflicts made up seven each and civil suits, eight.

Clerk of Courts Sara Dresbach also reported that cases pending on the Court of Appeals docket remained at six for the month with no new appeals being filed.

U.S. Expands

(Continued from Page 1) mean that from time to time Nixon can be expected to strike heavy blows against enemy positions in Southeast Asia, including North Vietnam, depending on what actions Hanoi itself takes.

In practical terms Nixon is said to be determined to keep the North Vietnamese from taking important military advantage of the situation while the United States withdraws and turns the battle over to the South Vietnamese.

The basic policy line was set forth by Nixon in a speech last April 30 to which some diplomatic officials now direct attention.

He accused the North Vietnamese of intransigence in the peace negotiations, "massive military aggression" in Laos and Cambodia and an increase in attacks in South Vietnam to raise the American casualty rate.

He then said: "I again warn the North Vietnamese that if they continue to escalate the fighting when the United States is withdrawing its forces I shall meet my responsibility as commander in chief of our armed forces to take the action that I consider necessary to defend the security of our American men."

Almost immediately Nixon's words were reinforced by action. The North Vietnamese had shot down a plane escorting a U.S. reconnaissance plane, which also was damaged.

By May 4 about 500 U.S. fighters and bombers carried out what the Defense Department called "protective reaction strikes" against North Vietnam.

Two weeks ago a second massive raid was carried out against North Vietnamese targets after a lapse of six months. Again an American plane had been shot down and a series of U.S. raids resulted on Nov. 20-21.

Then on Nov. 30 a U.S. pilot flying patrol on the Laos-North Vietnamese border attacked a missile site in North Vietnam after determining through his electronic gear that it was tracking an American combat plane over Laos.

There was a similar attack last September on a North Vietnamese radar-controlled anti-aircraft missile base. And last August the U.S. military headquarters in Saigon announced a Navy plane carried out a "protective reaction" attack against a North Vietnamese anti-aircraft missile base in southern North Vietnam.

Some informed officials agree these strikes, ranging from single plane to 500-plane actions, define the slow development of a policy which could stop where it is, revert to only punitive attacks for shooting down reconnaissance aircraft, or expand further into frequent selective operations against North Vietnamese positions.

What the operations should show Hanoi, Washington officials say, is Nixon's readiness to move beyond the previous bounds of policy if he thinks the enemy is trying to take advantage of the restraints implicit in the U.S. policy of Vietnamization and troop withdrawal.

Bobo Retires As President Of Chamber

Retiring President Howard Bobo conducted his final meeting Tuesday of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

New directors introduced at the session included Dr. Carlos Alvarez, John A. Stevenson, Wally Yamarick, William Heiskell, Ralph Ankrom and Allan Berger. Dick Pettit, another new director, was unable to attend the session.

As his final act as president, Bobo appointed an auditing committee consisting of Bob S. Cranton, chairman, Ned Schreiner and Erml Stonerock.

Kenneth Fosnaugh was elected to the vice presidency upon recommendation of Doyle Spangler, incoming president.

Jack Mader presented a series of picture slides of the chamber's new headquarters to be located in the W. Main St. facilities that formerly housed The Second National Bank. Dedicated to the Pickaway County Historical Society by the bank, lease agreements have been worked out for use of the offices by the chamber.

A series of work schedules will be prepared for volunteers from the chamber's Board of Directors.

In final action, the directors employed Mrs. Jean Ankrom for another year as chamber manager.

Stoutsville Man Accidentally Shot

Edgar Stevens, 56, Stoutsville was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a gunshot wound of his left foot.

He told Deputy Sheriff he was removing a coon from a trap on his property when his 22 caliber revolver discharged, striking him in the foot.

NATO Members Boost Cash Outlays Another Billion

BRUSSELS (AP)— Ten European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization announced plans today to spend about $1 billion in Europe and defense over the next five years, in addition to the $24 billion a year they are spending now. The 10 NATO members said their decision was made "on the basis that the United States, whose forces in Europe are of critical political and military significance for the common security of the whole NATO area, would for its part maintain those forces at substantially current levels."

The defense ministers of the 10 nations, presenting their plan to U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, called it a "special and wide-ranging European defense program."

Also on the agenda for the meeting today of NATO's defense planning committee was a general defense plan for the 1970s—a new document known as AD-70—drawn to chart how the Atlantic alliance will meet the challenge of the Soviet Union and its allies during the decade.

As NATO's annual four-day winter meeting went into its second day, the leaders of the seven Warsaw Pact nations were gathering in East Berlin, seeking to agree on a common position toward the overtures of the West German government for better relations with Eastern Europe.

The extra effort agreed on by the 10 European allies, to be spread over five years, is only a start, NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio told newsmen. But the Europeans felt that the program at least displays a willingness to share some of the extra load being borne by the Americans. They hope it will give the Nixon administration ammunition to use against demands in the U.S. Congress for a reduction in the 295,000 American troops in Europe.

Laird said on his arrival in Brussels Wednesday night that he was not familiar with the entire package, but "we are very pleased our European allies are recognizing the importance of changes as far as the whole question of burden sharing."

The 10-nation program calls for: —Setting up an integrated military communications system and a network of air raid shelters for aircraft. This is to cost at least $420 million, but a snag has arisen because Britain is refusing to contribute cash.

—An increase of $450 billion to $500 million in operational and capital expenses by the individual European allies.

—A gift by West Germany to Turkey of 16 new transport planes costing $79 million.

Man Arrested Council For Entering Dwelling

Robert Bailey, 435 Half Ave., was arrested by Circleville Police early today and charged with breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling during the night season and with intoxication.

At 3 a.m. today police received a call from June Allison, 445 Half Ave., reporting that Bailey was in the residence. They apprehended him in the home.

Appearing in Municipal Court today he entered a plea of guilty to intoxication and was fined $15 and costs by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb. He pleaded innocent to the breaking and entering charge and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,500 bond.

David Fatherolf reported that three vending machines were stolen from the laundromat located at 160 W. Main St. during the night.

Johnny Newton, Route 2, reported that four tires and four rims, valued at $118, were taken from his pickup truck Tuesday while it was parked in the Coca Cola Parking lot of S. Scioto St.

Clinton County Finds New Case Of Hog Cholera

A new case, the 20th of hog cholera in Clinton County, was reported Monday following a two-week absence of the disease showing. The most recent outbreak occurred on a farm near the center of an area quarantined since Oct. 27.

Approximately 400 head of swine was depopulated Tuesday following confirmation of the cholera.

Inspections of farms within the quarantined area have been conducted twice weekly in a joint federal-state program to eradicate the disease. Restrictions, quarantining the entire county, had been eased just a week ago.

(Continued from Page 1) advertising of bids for hospitalization insurance for city employees. Although the city has passed an ordinance authorizing the safety director to bid, it failed to include specifications for the bidding with the ordinance.

Councilman Barnhill raised the question about why the bidding had not been advertised. Gerhardt explained the specifications needed to be in the hands of the safety director first.

Councilman David Goldschmidt said the specifications had been given to City Solicitor Charles Hosterman at the time he was asked to prepare the legislation and that he must still have them.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Councilmen Crawford, Barnhill, Goldschmidt, Keith Wagner, Samuel (Pete) Cook, Harold Clifton and Gladden Troutman, President Joe Bell and Clerk Robert Shadley were all present for the meeting.

Barnhill asked why parking meters removed during Pumpkin Show had not been replaced. He was advised the service department is presently replacing the meters.

Crawford reported the Board of Public Utilities had employed Richard Penn as attorney to represent the city in matters concerning construction of the new sewer plant.

Goldschmidt announced the finance committee was working on the 1971 budget and would present it at the Dec. 15 meeting.

Chief of Police Temple reported that Patrolman Jack Mills is attending instructor's school at Lima along with Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Earl Kuhn. A police officer's training school will be held beginning Dec. 7 in Circleville with law enforcement officers from the city police department, the sheriff's department and surrounding villages planning to attend.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The cyclically vigorous construction industry has slowed again as business finds itself with an abundance of plant capacity but not enough work to fill it.

As reported by F. W. Dodge, the October total of new construction contracts fell to the second lowest level of the year — to an index of 179, based on 1957-1959 activity equaling 100 — compared with 200 in August.

Any hope of finding signs of economic recovery in October's construction contract statistics will be disappointed to learn that, as in September, the weakness was again concentrated in . . . business capital spending, the company said.

During the boom years now ended, industry plowed tremendous sums into expanding and improving its production facilities, confident that the investments would be repaid in big sales and profits.

Now that economic activity is sluggish, in direct response to the anti-inflation efforts in Washington, businessmen are less inclined to spend for factories, plants, offices and stores whose need hasn't been proved.

Instead, the emphasis in corporations now is on holding the line, on cutting costs, on improving efficiency and productivity rather than merely increasing sales. Efforts are aimed at saving rather than spending.

This is a new test for many managers who knew nothing but expansion for a decade, and many of the companies that prospered during the 1960s are likely to be found wanting in the skills needed to make more money out of the same sales.

As the General Electric Economic Forecasting Operation views the upcoming months, "American management now faces its greatest challenge since the end of World War II." That challenge: to operate more efficiently.

"Capacity is no longer a problem for the next several years," it declared in its Quarterly Review of Economic Prospects. The best use of that capacity will, however, be a momentous task.

"Boosting productivity is the crucial need and will continue to be the priority one task for as long as cost inflation persists its present virulent form," the quarterly's editor reported.

"Attention to detail, waste, inefficiency, excessive inventory, sloppy distribution, quality, resources — all of these things are going to have to be watched in the future as never before because of the inability of our economic system to control inflation."

One highly regarded consultant to the management of several very large corporations reports confidentially that some of the whiz kids of the 1960s are paralyzed in such situations.

"When asked to cut the budget 10 per cent," he said, "they either take a machete and lop off 10 per cent indiscriminately or they sit there paralyzed, unable to move."

Even though unemployment is relatively high and construction activity is slow, indicating that business already is responding to the demands for greater efficiency, the GE unit sees the challenge still ahead.

"Following the end of the auto strike," it forecasts, "general business conditions should improve for a short time, but the real test of management and labor will come later . . ."

That test will come, it said, "when the end of the defense spending and investment boom has made its full impact felt upon the durable goods industries and to a lesser extent the nondurable goods industries."

Most of the large basic industries will find the going tough during the early 70s, GE's economists said. And they named steel, autos, nonferrous metals, metal fabrication and aircraft.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Three Yale astronomers predict the earth will probably last for another billion years. Does this mean we don't have to rush to do our Christmas shopping early?

If you drop an idea in the office suggestion box for which your firm pays you money, you must divvy it up with Uncle Sam to the labor market was a Service has ruled that such bonuses are part of your pay and subject to income tax.

In Soviet Russia, now suffering a labor shortage, you're never too old to work. One of the first to respond to a government appeal for retirees to return to the labor market was a man in Uzbekistan who claimed to be 117 years old. He was given a job as a traffic policeman.

It takes a long time to pay off a battlefield. No Civil War veterans are left on U.S. federal pension rolls, but at last count the government was still paying money out to 3,900 widows and 650 dependent children left in the wake of that long ago conflict.

Isn't it a shame? It takes some 2,000 bolts to hold a car together — and only one nut to tear it apart.

Here's an irony about auto liability insurance. In an accident involving only $500 damage it may enable you to recover more than four times that amount, a survey showed, but in a case involving serious injury, it may repay you only one-sixth of your total economic loss.

Literary humor: Author H. G. Wells, once denounced another man's hat by mistake, liked its fit so well he kept it, and left this note behind for the owner: "I stole your hat. I like your hat: I shall keep your hat. Whenever I look inside it, I shall think of you. I take off your hat to you!"

How's that again? There is some fear that most city dwellers will be totally deaf by the year 2000 if urban noise levels continue to rise at the present rate. In the last 10 years they have doubled, according to the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

Some fling: Boomerang throwing is becoming a booming sport in Australia and Canada. Using a nonreturnable curved flying stick, Australian aborigines have been known to bring down a kangaroo at 200 yards.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

TWO OVERDRESSED and overfed old biddies in St. Petersburg spotted several sailors on week-end passes enjoying a friendly game of shuffleboard. "Goodness," sniffed one of the ladies, "wouldn't you think they'd get enough of that game aboard ship?"

The box-office treasurer of a variety house in St. Paul sold a ticket to a man with one of those woe-begone expressions that haunt you for hours after you've seen it. He was startled, therefore, when the same man came back a few minutes later to buy another ticket for the same show.

When the character appeared a third time to purchase still another ducat, the treasurer said, "I know it's none of my business, but I suppose you are aware of the fact that this is the third ticket you've bought for the same show." "I know, I know," was the mournful reply, "but when I handed the other tickets to the man at the door he tore them up."

QUICKIES:

"Economists," points out Jim Owens, "are still trying to figure out why the girl with the least principle draws the most interest." "Actually," claims the president of a Middle Atlantic state university, "I don't approve of colleges closing down during the summer. It gives the students too much time to rearm."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Each year about this time you tell us wheezy, or not to take the flu vaccine. Is an epidemic expected this year?

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. H. Mich. Dear Mr. and Mrs. H: Too many people are unnecessarily terrified by premature and often unsubstantiated reports of an impending influenza epidemic.

The statistics of numbers can cause more emotional distress than the value of the warnings they profess to give. The United States Public Health Service and the Center for Disease Control will not issue public bulletins with predictions and prophecies.

Instead, each individual is advised to follow the specific orders of his own doctor, who will have received scientific reports about any possible epidemic.

The elderly, the infirm, and those with chronic respiratory and other illnesses will generally benefit from the flu vaccine.

The advantage of the injection for young adults in schools and for children, however, must be individually evaluated by their own doctors.

I expect to have my first baby in three months. I am absolutely terrified that I will be too nervous to take care of him myself. I am ashamed to confess this to my doctor or my husband because I don't want them to laugh at me.

Mrs. A. G. A., N.Y. Dear Mrs. A.: The thought of taking care of a "tiny, fragile, delicate, tender infant" is not uncommon to women about to have their first child.

I prophesy that within 24 hours after bringing your baby home you will wonder what you were ever frightened about. It is surprising how hardy newborn infants are, and how well they tolerate the early clumsy handling of loving parents.

Just watch one of your friends diaper her child with those oversized diaper pins while giving instructions to another child, and keeping one eye out on her favorite soap opera. You will get a real sense of security about yourself.

Remember, too, that almost every city now has excellent educational courses that can equip you and your husband for taking care of your baby.

Here is a tip for you: After the baby arrives — if you feel overwhelmed — just imagine what the parents of quintuplets have to contend with!

Anxious people need reassurance rather than criticism.

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Write:

Two west coast scientists suggest a way to get rid of solid waste matter is to dump it into deep ocean trenches where it will stay out of sight for at least 50 million years. Ah! — Mother Nature's garbage can?

Guess those savants figure by the year 50,001,970 the world will know how to combat pollution.

In Belgium, a vandal has been clipping off the tails of race horses. Probably gets a kick out of this — but not the right kind!

The copper bowl inside a washing machine in a Bowmington, England laundromat has been relaying radioed police calls. Sounds like a new way to air a community's "dirty linen."

Could be that customers hearing those police calls via a washing machine may have thought they were listening to real life soap operas.

ACLU Pouring Money Into KSU Defense Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union has pumped nearly $50,000 into the "Kent Project," considered part of a national program "to protect the right of peaceful dissent" by the ACLU.

Benson Wolman, ACLU executive director in Ohio, described the program of legal actions arising out of last May's disorders at Kent State University as a "move within the system against official lawlessness."

Four persons were killed on the Kent campus May 4 during a confrontation between Ohio National Guardsmen and students.

The program is under the direction of Ohio State University law professor Michael Gertner.

Khrushchev Memoirs

JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What goes on in the upper reaches of the Moscow Communist hierarchy, where everything is supposed to be tightly controlled but apparently is not?

The latest evidence of cross-purposes is the release of former Premier Nikita Khrushchev's supposed memoirs to Life magazine. As might have been expected, the Khrushchev view of Joseph Stalin, as presented in the memoirs, is as dour as ever: Stalin was a madman who had poisoned the good milk of Leninist doctrine and practically drowned Russia in blood. Since the official Moscow policy of the moment calls for the partial rehabilitation of Stalin, why should the memoirs have been peddled?

The Moscow mystery journalist, Victor Louis, who writes for London's Evening News, was the broker in the deal. What is Victor Louis's relation to the Communist hierarchy? He is supposed to be in the good graces of the KGB, the Soviet secret police.

The deal worked out with Life at the Hotel D'Angleterre in Copenhagen was not the first of its kind in Louis's career. In 1966, at the time of the Sinyavsky - Daniel trial in Russia, when Soviet intellectuals were being put under the gun for allowing their manuscripts to go to the West, Victor Louis was a go-between in the strange "exile" tour of Valery Tarsis, a disaffected Russian writer, through Britain and the U.S. The only logical explanation of the Tarsis "exile" which had been permitted was that the Kremlin counted on Tarsis to discredit himself, the theory being that his expected eccentricities might cause Westerners to think Sinyavsky and Daniel were dubious characters also.

Some time later Louis offered an alternative version of the memoirs of Stalin's daughter Svetlana to the West. Since Svetlana was on American soil and hence perfectly capable of marketing her own wares, which the Kremlin wanted suppressed, could the intention of the Victor Louis diversion have been to mess up the copyright situation? And possibly the Kremlin counted on the pictures that went with the alternative manuscript to tell an anti-Svetlana story.

Whatever is behind Victor Louis's activities, they add up to a confusion. Checking with Sovietologists, one finds there are several radically opposed theories of the motives behind the leak of the memoirs whose authenticity Khrushchev himself has repudiated. One theory is that there is a dissident group in the KGB, and in the Politburo itself, that is anti-Brezhnev and doesn't want to see Stalin rehabilitated. Another theory is that the Kremlin is looking for an excuse to declare Khrushchev an enemy of the State for allowing his memoirs to be sold outside Russia. A third theory is that the CIA has had a hand in the whole business. This would have to mean there are double agents inside the KGB itself.

The confusion indicated in Moscow over the Khrushchev memoirs comes at a welcome time for the West, for Christian Duvel's annual analysis of the Soviet Central Committee's October Slogans for Radio Liberty is not very encouraging. Ever since 1967 the Kremlin had called every October for the "consolidation of all anti-imperialist peace-loving forces" to struggle against "reaction and war." But now the phrase "peace-loving" has been dropped from the slogan. This, as Duvel surmises, means that the Soviets are willing to accept help from anybody in their machinations against the West. Any Palestinian guerrilla organization, whether Maoist or not, is to be accepted in the "anti-imperialist struggle."

There are other subtle changes in the slogans that indicate a more intransigent Soviet foreign policy all down the line. What this portends for the SALT talks about a mutual limitation of armaments is not exactly encouraging. The main hope of the West is that a struggle for power in Moscow itself is making it difficult for the tougher warmongers in the Kremlin.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

On Nov. 24, by a roll call vote of 383 yeas and 5 nays, the House passed important legislation to insure that American workingmen and women have safe and healthful working conditions.

Each year, because of hazardous job conditions over 14,500 workers die. To remedy this deplorable situation, President Nixon recommended appropriate legislation to the Congress. Unfortunately, the House Education and Labor Committee took a different legislative approach and reported a bill that many Congressmen found unacceptable.

The Committee version would have created a monopoly of safety enforcement and inspection functions in the Secretary of Labor, failed to resolve the jurisdictional division between HEW's responsibility for health and the Labor Department's for safety, and also failed to overcome widespread public objection to a provision permitting an inspector to arbitrarily close down a plant in alleged eminent danger situations. Therefore, a substitute bill following the Administration's recommendation was offered as an amendment during debate.

The substitute refocused responsibility for job safety and health by distributing the various enforcement functions. It created a new National Occupational Safety and Health Board to set standards, composed of five members appointed by the President who are to be professionals in the field of occupational safety. In addition, it creates a Presidential Safety and Health Appeals Commission to review enforcement proceedings. For situations where working conditions create an eminent danger to the health and safety of workers, the measure establishes a judicial procedure whereby the courts would provide appropriate equitable remedies and assess penalties.

The substitute passed by a record vote of 220 yeas to 170 nays. I felt the substitute was the better bill and voted for it.

On Aug. 11, 1970, the President vetoed the first Independent Offices and the 92nd Congress.

Department of Housing and Urban Development Appropriation Bill for FY 1971, because it provided funds of $541,301,800 over the budget request.

The vote to override the veto fell short of the two-thirds majority required by the Constitution. The measure was sent back to the Appropriations Committee to reach a compromise. The Committee then made reductions totaling $300 million and reported the measure back to the House. On Tuesday, the House passed the compromise legislation.

The General Accounting Office recently released a comprehensive report which indicates wide spread abuse in the mark-up of prescription drugs needed by senior citizens and those on public welfare.

For instance, average markups include 159 per cent for Lanoxin, 233 per cent for milk of magnesia, and 248 per cent for digoxin, as compared to the prices by which the same drugs are made available to the private consumer. The report further stated that the system of record-keeping is inadequate to determine if the drugs billed to the States were received by welfare patients, if these drugs accomplished their intended effect, and if only needed drugs were dispensed. Data was insufficient to determine if drugs paid for by the States had been authorized by a physician or if the prescriptions were complete as to quantities, dosages, strengths, or dates.

Drugs prescribed by licensed physicians must be readily available to our Senior Citizens and welfare recipients, but at the same time, adequate controls must be implemented to avoid abuse of the Medicaid program. In conjunction with the General Accounting Office and Department of Health, Education and Welfare, I have taken initial necessary steps in drafting legislation which would insure that drugs prescribed to senior citizens and welfare patients by physicians are available at standard retail prices and that the prescription itself contains all pertinent information.

It is my intention to introduce such legislation early in the 92nd Congress.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The cyclically vigorous construction industry has slowed again as business finds itself with an abundance of plant capacity but not enough work to fill it.

As reported by F. W. Dodge, the October total of new construction contracts fell to the second lowest level of the year — to an index of 179, based on 1957-1959 activity equaling 100 — compared with 200 in August.

"Anyone hoping to find signs of economic recovery in October's construction contract statistics will be disappointed to learn that, as in September, the weakness was again concentrated in... business capital spending," the company said.

During the boom years now ended, industry plowed tremendous sums into expanding and improving its production facilities, confident that the investments would be repaid in big sales and profits.

Now that economic activity is sluggish, in direct response to the anti-inflation efforts in Washington, businessmen are less inclined to spend for factories, plants, offices and stores whose need hasn't been proved. Instead, the emphasis in corporations now is on holding the line, on cutting costs, on improving efficiency and productivity rather than merely increasing sales. Efforts are aimed at saving rather than spending.

This is a new test for many managers who knew nothing but expansion for a decade, and many of the companies that prospered during the 1960s are likely to be found wanting in the skills needed to make more money out of the same sales.

As the General Electric Economic Forecasting Operation views the upcoming months, "American management now faces its greatest challenge since the end of World War II." That challenge: to operate more efficiently.

"Capacity is no longer a problem for the next several years," it declared in its Quarterly Review of Economic Prospects. The best use of that capacity will, however, be a momentous task.

"Boosting productivity is the crucial need and will continue to be the priority one task for as long as cost inflation persists its present virulent form," the quarterly's editor reported.

"Attention to detail, waste, inefficiency, excessive inventory, sloppy distribution, quality resources — all of these things are going to have to be watched in the future as never before because of the inability of our economic system to control inflation."

One highly regarded consultant to the management of several very large corporations reports confidentially that some of the whiz kids of the 1960s are paralyzed in such situations.

"When asked to cut the budget 10 per cent," he said, "they either take a machete and lop off 10 per cent indiscriminately instead of selectively eliminating only the bad. Either that or they sit there paralyzed, unable to move."

Even though unemployment is relatively high and construction activity is slow, indicating that business already is responding to the demands for greater efficiency, the GE unit sees the challenge still ahead.

"Following the end of the auto strike," it forecasts, "general business conditions should improve for a short time, but the real test of management and labor will come later..."

That test will come, it said, "when the end of the defense spending and investment boom has made its full impact felt upon the durable goods industries and to a lesser extent the nondurable goods industries."

Most of the large basic industries will find the going tough during the early 70s. GE's economists said. And they named steel, autos, nonferrous metals, metal fabrication and aircraft.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Three Yale astronomers predict the earth will probably last for another billion years. Does this mean we don't have to rush to do our Christmas shopping early?

If you drop an idea in the office suggestion box for which your firm pays you money, you must divvy it up with Uncle Sam to the labor market was a Service has ruled that such bonuses are part of your pay and subject to income tax.

In Soviet Russia, now suffering a labor shortage, you're never too old to work. One of the first to respond to a government appeal for retirees to return to the labor market was a man in Uzbekistan who claimed to be 117 years old. He was given a job as a traffic policeman.

It takes a long time to pay off a battlefield. No Civil War veterans are left on U.S. federal pension rolls, but at last count the government was still paying money out to 3,900 widows and 659 dependent children left in the wake of that long ago conflict.

Isn't it a shame? It takes some 2,000 bolts to hold a car together — and only one nut to turn it apart.

Here's an irony about auto liability insurance. In an accident involving only $500 damage it may enable you to recover more than four times that amount, a survey showed, but in a case involving serious injury, it may repay you only one-sixth of your total economic loss.

Literary humor: Author H. G. Wells once donned another man's hat by mistake, liked it so well he kept it, and left this note behind for the owner: "I stole your hat. I like your hat: I shall keep your hat. Whenever I look inside it, I shall think of you. I take off your hat to you!"

How's that again? There is some fear that most city dwellers will be totally deaf by the year 2000 if urban noise levels continue to rise at the present rate. In the last 10 years they have doubled, according to the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

Some fling: Boomerang throwing is becoming a booming sport in Australia and Canada. Using a nonreturnable curved flying stick, Australian aborigines have been known to bring down a kangaroo at 200 yards.

TWO OVERDRESSED and overfed old biddies in St. Petersburg spotted several sailors on week-end passes enjoying a friendly game of shuffleboard. "Goodness," sniffed one of the ladies, "wouldn't you think they'd get enough of that game aboard ship?"

The box-office treasurer of a variety house in St. Paul sold a ticket to a man with one of those weebegone expressions that haunt you for hours after you've seen it. He was startled, therefore, when the same man came back a few minutes later to buy another ticket for the same show. When the character appeared a third time to purchase still another ticket, the treasurer said, "I know it's none of my business, but I suppose you are aware of the fact that this is the third ticket you've bought for the same show." "I know, I know," was the mournful reply, "but when I handed the other tickets to the man at the door he tore them up."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Each year about this time you tell us wheeze, or not to take the flu vaccine, is an epidemic expected this year?

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. H. Mich. Dear Mr. and Mrs. H: Too many people are unnecessarily terrified by premature and often unsubstantiated reports of an impending influenza epidemic.

The statistics of numbers can cause more emotional distress than the value of the warnings they profess to give.

The United States Public Health Service and the Center for Disease Control will not issue public bulletins with predictions and prophecies.

Instead, each individual is advised to follow the specific orders of his own doctor, who will have received scientific reports about any possible epidemic.

The elderly, the infirm, and those with chronic respiratory and other illnesses will generally benefit from the flu vaccine.

The advantage of the injection for young adults in schools and for children, however, must be individually evaluated by their own doctors.

I expect to have my first baby in three months. I am absolutely terrified that I will be too nervous to take care of him myself. I am ashamed to confess this to my doctor or my husband because I don't want them to laugh at me.

Mrs. A. G. A. N.Y. Dear Mrs. A: The thought of taking care of a "tiny, fragile, delicate, tender infant" is not uncommon to women about to have their first child.

I prophesy that within 24 hours after bringing your baby home you will wonder what you were ever frightened about. It is surprising how hardy newborn infants are, and how well they tolerate the early clumsy handling of loving parents.

Just watch one of your friends diaper her child with those oversized diaper pins while giving instructions to another child, and keeping one eye out on her favorite soap opera. You will get a real sense of security about yourself.

Remember, too, that almost every city now has excellent educational courses that can equip you and your husband for taking care of your baby.

Here is a tip for you: After the baby arrives — if you feel overwhelmed — just imagine what the parents of quintuplets have to contend with!

What goes on in the upper reaches of the Moscow Communist hierarchy, where everything is supposed to be tightly controlled but apparently is not?

The latest evidence of cross-purposes is the release of former Premier Nikita Khrushchev's supposed memoirs to Life magazine. As might have been expected, the Khrushchev view of Joseph Stalin, as presented in the memoirs, is as dour as ever: Stalin was a madman who had poisoned the good milk of Leninist doctrine and practically drowned Russia in blood. Since the official Moscow policy of the moment calls for the partial rehabilitation of Stalin, why should the memoirs have been peddled?

The Moscow mystery journalist, Victor Louis, who writes for London's Evening News, was the broker in the deal. What is Victor Louis's relation to the Communist hierarchy? He is supposed to be in the good graces of the KGB, the Soviet secret police.

The deal worked out with Life at the Hotel D'Angleterre in Copenhagen was not the first of its kind in Louis's career. In 1966, at the time of the Sinyavsky-Daniel trial in Russia, when Soviet intellectuals were being put under the gun for allowing their manuscripts to go to the West, Victor Louis was a go-between in the strange "exile" tour of Valery Tarsis, a disaffected Russian writer, through Britain and the U.S. The only logical explanation of the Tarsis "exile" which had been permitted was that the Kremlin counted on Tarsis to discredit himself, the theory being that his expected eccentricities might cause Westerners to think Sinyavsky and Daniel were dubious characters also.

Some time later Louis offered an alternative version of the memoirs of Stalin's daughter Svetlana to the West. Since Svetlana was on American soil and hence perfectly capable of marketing her own wares, which the Kremlin wanted suppressed, could the intention of the Victor Louis diversion have been to mess up the copyright situation? And possibly the Kremlin counted on the pictures that went with the alternative manuscript to tell an anti-Svetlana story.

Whatever is behind Victor Louis's activities, they add up to a confusion. Checking with Sovietologists, one finds there are several radically opposed theories of the motives behind the leak of the memoirs whose authenticity Khrushchev himself has repudiated. One theory is that there is a dissident group in the KGB, and in the Politburo itself, that is anti-Brezhnev and doesn't want to see Stalin rehabilitated. Another theory is that the Kremlin is looking for an excuse to declare Khrushchev an enemy of the State for allowing his memoirs to be sold outside Russia. A third theory is that the CIA has had a hand in the whole business. This would have to mean there are double agents inside the KGB itself.

The confusion indicated in Moscow over the Khrushchev memoirs comes at a welcome time for the West, for Christian Duvell's annual analysis of the Soviet Central Committee's October Slogans for Radio Liberty is not very encouraging. Ever since 1967 the Kremlin had called every October for the "consolidation of all anti-imperialist peace-loving forces" to struggle against "reaction and war." But now the phrase "peace-loving" has been dropped from the slogan. This, as Duvell surmises, means that the Soviets are willing to accept help from anybody in their machinations against the West. Any Palestinian guerrilla organization, whether Maoist or not, is to be accepted in the "anti-imperialist struggle."

There are other subtle changes in the slogans that indicate a more intransigent Soviet foreign policy all down the line. What this portends for the SALT talks about a mutual limitation of armaments is not exactly encouraging. The main hope of the West is that a struggle for power in Moscow itself is making it difficult for the tougher warmongers in the Kremlin.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 2, the 336th day of 1970. There are 29 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1823, President James Monroe made a speech in Congress in which he outlined the U.S. Monroe Doctrine against European expansion in the Western Hemisphere.

On this date:

In 1804, Napoleon Bonaparte crowned himself Emperor of France.

In 1805, Napoleon's armies were victorious in the Battle of Austerlitz in what is now Czechoslovakia.

In 1859, John Brown, the abolitionist who had led the historic raid at Harper's Ferry, Va., was hanged at Charles Town, W.Va.

In 1956, Fidel Castro began the Communist revolution in Cuba as he landed with 42 men on the coast of Oriente Province. Most of his followers were wiped out, but he escaped to the mountains.

In 1964, Pope Paul VI flew to India on the longest trip a Pontiff ever had undertaken until that time.

Ten years ago: In the Congo, deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba was captured, four days after escaping from his guarded house in Leopoldville.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson predicted another record year for the U.S. economy.

One year ago: Arrests were being made in the murder of actress Sharon Tate and six other persons in the Hollywood hills.

In 1785 the United States Congress directed under the Articles of Confederation that the United States monetary system be based on a dollar "of the value of the Spanish milled dollar, as the same is now current." The government did not begin minting dollars until 1795 however.

On Nov. 24, by a roll call vote of 383 yeas and 5 nays, the House passed important legislation to insure that American workmen and women have safe and healthful working conditions.

Each year, because of hazardous job conditions over 14,500 workers die. To remedy this deplorable situation, President Nixon recommended appropriate legislation to the Congress. Unfortunately, the House Education and Labor Committee took a different legislative approach and reported a bill that many Congressmen found unacceptable.

The Committee version would have created a monopoly of safety enforcement and inspection functions in the Secretary of Labor, failed to resolve the jurisdictional division between HEW's responsibility for health and the Labor Department's for safety, and also failed to overcome widespread public objection to a provision permitting an inspector to arbitrarily close down a plant in alleged eminent danger situations. Therefore, a substitute bill following the Administration's recommendation was offered as an amendment during debate.

The substitute refocused responsibility for job safety and health by distributing the various enforcement functions. It created a new National Occupational Safety and Health Board to set standards, composed of five members appointed by the President who are to be professionals in the field of occupational safety. In addition, it creates a Presidentially appointed Occupational Safety and Health Appeals Commission to review enforcement proceedings. For situations where working conditions create an eminent danger to the health and safety of workers, the measure establishes a judicial procedure whereby the courts would provide appropriate equitable remedies and assess penalties.

The substitute passed by a record vote of 230 yeas to 170 nays. I felt the substitute was the better bill and voted for it.

On Aug. 11, 1970, the President vetoed the first Independent Offices and the 92nd Congress.

The vote to override the veto fell short of the two-thirds majority required by the Constitution. The measure was sent back to the Appropriations Committee to reach a compromise. The Committee then made reductions totaling $300 million and reported the measure back to the House. On Tuesday, the House passed the compromise legislation.

The General Accounting Office recently released a comprehensive report which indicates wide spread abuse in the mark-up of prescription drugs needed by senior citizens and those on public welfare.

For instance, average markups include 159 per cent for Lanoxin, 233 per cent for milk of magnesia, and 248 per cent for digoxin, as compared to the prices by which the same drugs are made available to the private consumer. Drugs prescribed by licensed physicians must be readily available to our Senior Citizens and welfare recipients, but at the same time, adequate controls must be implemented to avoid abuse of the Medicaid program.

In conjunction with the General Accounting Office and Department of Health, Education and Welfare, I have taken initial necessary steps in drafting legislation which would insure that drugs prescribed to senior citizens and welfare patients by physicians are available at standard retail prices and that the prescription itself contains all pertinent information.

It is my intention to introduce such legislation early in the dependent Offices and the 92nd Congress.

Editor Urges Scrapping Of Counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jim Fain, editor of the Dayton Daily News, told a joint meeting of Ohio county commissioners and engineers Tuesday that they must make "traumatic changes" in local government.

Fain said the nation faces "the greatest political crisis the country has known," particularly in metropolitan areas.

He said small, "politically possible" changes in local governmental institutions had either been given or proved ineffective, and suggested more drastic measures.

Fain suggested scrapping Ohio's 88 counties and replacing them with new units of local government.

Boundary lines of the new districts should be drawn to separate high population densities from low ones, he said.

He said each district should have its own "governor" and legislature and be given "the right to tax and govern" with responsibilities carefully separated from those of the state.

The agreement was signed Nov. 24 at the end of a secret, four-day visit to Addis Ababa by Peking envoy Yang Shou-cheng. He met with Emperor Haile Selassie and leaders of his government.

Dear Abby: Children Neat Despite Parent

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a terrible housekeeper for 30 years and she thinks I'm happy because I love her. But no one can be happy with a slob but another slob. I've never been able to bring my friends home and I know that our children were also ashamed of the way our house looked. The daughters are married now and they are other very good housekeepers. How do you suppose that happened?

SLOB'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: First things first. You are not only 30 years too late with your complaint, but you're directing it to the wrong person. A husband doesn't have to hit his wife over the head with a broom to let her know the place needs a sweeping. Your daughters obviously regarded their mother's housekeeping as a "horrible example," and determined not to follow suit. Sometimes it works that way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had a heart attack and it took him several months to recuperate. Naturally, during that time I had everything to do inside and outside our home. (Don't get me wrong, I'm not complaining, I was glad to do it.)

Whenever I would run into friends while shopping, they would all ask, "How is John feeling?" But not one person asked, "How are you feeling, Marge?"

A wife goes through a great deal of agony when her husband is sick, and it would be nice for people to realize this and for one of them to ask, "How are you getting along?"

IN NEED OF SYMPATHY

DEAR MARGE: How are you getting along?

DEAR ABBY: A wife asked you what you thought of a husband who got up at four in the morning and took off for a long-anticipated hunting trip, and forgot his gun! You replied, "I think whatever it was he intended to hunt, he didn't intend to shoot it."

I am sure you must realize that many athletes get pregame jitters. My brother in law was a football player and he used to get diarrhea and throw up before every game. In high school, a member of our boxing team appeared in the gym in his warm-up jacket and a jock strap. He forgot his trunks. Even some of the more experienced entertainers will tell you they still get stage fright. Their stomachs are tied up in knots, and their hearts pound like a trip hammer.

Some expectant fathers, when the baby is due, have been known to start out for the hospital without their wives. Hunters are no different. Be fair, Abby, and print this.

HUNTER'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: Why does every wedding announcement start out with, "Daughter of Banker Weds?" or, "Movie Executive's Daughter Marries?" Are they really announcing a nuptial or trying to promote the old man's business?

DEAR G. L. AND F.: Papa's business adds a little interest to an otherwise dull announcement. "Daughter of oil Tycoon Weds Parking Lot Attendant" says more than "Nancy Smith and Joe Doaks Exchange Vows."

Ohioans Get Week To Urge Rail Passenger Routes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has given Ohioans one week to recommend state routes to be included in a new, national and federally-managed railroad passenger service system.

Federal officials have described the system as both an effort to rescue failing rail passenger lines and an attempt to revitalize railroad passenger service.

The deadline for recommendations is Monday, Dec. 7, according to Sheldon Taft, an assistant Ohio attorney general assigned to the commission.

Taft said the commission wants to compile the suggestions, formulate a position and make it known to the U.S. Department of Transportation by Dec. 20.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe has until Jan. 30 to submit to Congress a comprehensive plan for railroad travel.

The new system was authorized and funded by Congress in October, 1970.

The quasi-governmental agency, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., will take charge in May of medium and long-range passenger runs no longer wanted by the nation's railroads.

The corporation, known by the shortened name, Railpax, is expected to upgrade and streamline passenger transportation system across the country.

The corporation is patterned after the Communications Satellite Corp., the first successful public-private enterprise in the U.S.

Taft said preliminary plans call for a passenger route from New York to Chicago that will pass through Cleveland and Toledo, and a Washington to Chicago run passing through Cincinnati.

Taft said, however, the system may have the effect of eliminating a number of existing passenger services in Ohio.

He said railroad companies subscribing to the Railpax plan "can drop all of their passenger operations other than those which Railpax specifically contracted for."

Railroads until now have been required by the Interstate Commerce Commission to hold public hearings on service terminations, Taft said.

He cited recent ICC hearings on Penn Central's plans to drop a Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati run as the kind of procedure no longer to be required of Railpax participants.

Ohio cities that may suffer a decrease in rail service because of the Railpax plan, Taft said, include Cleveland, Cincinnati, Canton, Akron, Crestline, Lima and Columbus.

Santa Claus:
My name is Jonathan Harold Furness my age is 2 years old. I live at 433 East Union Street.

I also have a new baby sister who is 3 weeks old, her name is Sheila Renee Furness.

I would like you to bring me a guitar, gun, football, helmet, Dune buggy, trucks, clothes for Christmas. I would like it very much if you bring Sheila a doll baby and some small toys she might be able to play with.

Santa, make sure everybody in the world has a little something for Christmas and then I know it will be a merry one.

Will leave some cookies and milk for you on the table.

Thank you
Jonathan and Sheila Furness

Dear Santa Claus:
My name is Tamara Sue Denise Smith. I live on Route 3. I am 3 years old. I want you to bring me a "Mrs. Beasley Doll" and a camera, so I can take my little sister Christy's picture. Don't forget to bring Christy a doll baby too.

TAMMY SMITH
P.S. I've been a good girl for my mommy.

Dear Santa Claus:
My name is Robert Eugene Conkel, my age is 7 years old.

I live at 434 East Union Street in the rear. I also have a brother whose name is Brian J. Conkel. His age is 3 years old.

We both would like for you to bring us for Christmas a new car that does wheelies, pool table, hang on Harvey, football suit, trucks, new clothes. Santa, just make sure every girl and boy in the whole wide world has a little of something for Christmas and that would make it a happy Christmas for all of us.

BOBBY and BRIAN CONKEL
P.S. Your cookies and milk will be waiting on you.

Dear Santa:
My mommy is writing this letter for me since I'm only three years old. I will be four in January.

I would like to have a Baby Tender Love, high chair, blackboard, baton, Buck-a-roo, long nightgown and robe and I could use some slack outfits and some other clothes and anything else you want to bring me.

Don't forget to bring my little brother something too. His name is Scott and he is only two months old.

There will be some cookies and milk for you under the tree. Well, Santa, I will close. I'll be waiting to hear from you.

Editor Urges Scrapping Of Counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jim Fain, editor of the Dayton Daily News, told a joint meeting of Ohio county commissioners and engineers Tuesday that they must make "traumatic changes" in local government.

Fain said the nation faces "the greatest political crisis the country has known," particularly in metropolitan areas.

He said small, "politically possible" changes in local governmental institutions had either been given or proved ineffective, and suggested more drastic measures.

Fain suggested scrapping Ohio's 88 counties and replacing them with new units of local government.

Boundary lines of the new districts should be drawn to separate high population densities from low ones, he said.

He said each district should have its own "governor" and legislature and be given "the right to tax and govern" with responsibilities carefully separated from those of the state.

Ethiopia OKs Red China

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — The Ethiopian government announced today that it has recognized the Communist Chinese regime as the sole legal government of all the Chinese people.

A communique said the two governments agreed last week to exchange ambassadors. It said this was in accordance with Ethiopia's consistent policy "for a long time, both at the United Nations and at other international forums," that the People's Republic of China is the "Sole legal government representing the entire Chinese people."

The agreement was signed Nov. 24 at the end of a secret, four-day visit to Addis Ababa by Peking envoy Yang Shou-cheng. He met with Emperor Haile Selassie and leaders of his government.

Dear Abby: Children Neat Despite Parent

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a terrible housekeeper for 30 years and she thinks I'm happy because I love her. But no one can be happy with a slob but another slob. I've never been able to bring my friends home and I know that our children were also ashamed of the way our house looked. The daughters are married now and they are oh very good housekeepers. How do you suppose that happened?

SLOB'S HUSBAND
DEAR ABBY: First things first. You are not only 30 years too late with your complaint, but you're directing it to the wrong person. A husband doesn't have to hit his wife over the head with a broom to let her know the place needs a sweeping. Your daughters obviously regarded their mother's housekeeping as a "horrible example," and determined not to follow suit. Sometimes it works that way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had a heart attack and it took him several months to recuperate. Naturally, during that time I had everything to do inside and outside our home. (Don't get me wrong, I'm not complaining. I was glad to do it.)

Whenever I would run into friends while shopping, they would all ask, "How is John feeling?" But not one person asked, "How are you feeling, Marge?"

A wife goes through a great deal of agony when her husband is sick, and it would be nice for people to realize this and for one of them to ask, "How are you getting along?"

IN NEED OF SYMPATHY
DEAR MARGE: How are you getting along?

DEAR ABBY: A wife asked you what you thought of a husband who got up at four in the morning and took off for a long-anticipated hunting trip, and forgot his gun! You replied, "I think whatever it was he intended to hunt, he didn't intend to shoot it."

I am surprised at you, Abby. I am sure you must realize that many athletes get pregame jitters. My brother in law was a football player and he used to get diarrhea and throw up before every game. In high school, a member of our boxing team appeared in the gym in his warm-up jacket and a jock strap. He forgot his trunks. Even some of the more experienced entertainers will tell you they still get stage fright. Their stomachs are tied up in knots, and their hearts pound like a trip hammer.

Some expectant fathers, when the baby is due, have been known to start out for the hospital without their wives. Hunters are no different. Be fair, Abby, and print this.

HUNTER'S WIFE
PARKERS PRAIRIE, MINN.
DEAR ABBY: Why does every wedding announcement start out with, "Daughter of Banker Weds?" or, "Movie Executive's Daughter Marries?" Are they really announcing a nuptial or trying to promote the old man's business?

GEO. LEO & FRED
DEAR G. L. AND F.: Papa's business adds a little interest to an otherwise dull announcement. "Daughter of oil Tycoon Weds Parking Lot Attendant" says more than "Nancy Smith and Joe Doaks Exchange Vows."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Ohioans Get Week To Urge Rail Passenger Routes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has given Ohioans one week to recommend state routes to be included in a new, national and federally-managed railroad passenger service system.

Federal officials have described the system as both an effort to rescue failing rail passenger lines and an attempt to revitalize railroad passenger service.

The deadline for recommendations is Monday, Dec. 7, according to Sheldon Taft, an assistant Ohio attorney general assigned to the commission.

Taft said the commission wants to compile the suggestions, formulate a position and make it known to the U.S. Department of Transportation by Dec. 20.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe has until Jan. 30 to submit to Congress a comprehensive plan for railroad travel.

The new system was authorized and funded by Congress in October, 1970.

The quasi-governmental agency, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., will take charge in May of medium and long-range passenger runs no longer wanted by the nation's railroads.

The corporation, known by the shortened name, Railpax, is expected to upgrade and streamline passenger transportation system across the country.

The corporation is patterned after the Communications Satellite Corp., the first successful public-private enterprise in the U.S.

Taft said preliminary plans call for a passenger route from New York to Chicago that will pass through Cleveland and Toledo, and a Washington to Chicago run passing through Cincinnati.

Taft said, however, the system may have the effect of eliminating a number of existing passenger services in Ohio.

He said railroad companies subscribing to the Railpax plan "can drop all of their passenger operations other than those which Railpax specifically contracted for."

Railroads until now have been required by the Interstate Commerce Commission to hold public hearings on service terminations, Taft said.

He cited recent ICC hearings on Penn Central's plans to drop a Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati run as the kind of procedure no longer to be required of Railpax participants.

Ohio cities that may suffer a decrease in rail service because of the Railpax plan, Taft said, include Cleveland, Cincinnati, Canton, Akron, Crestline, Lima and Columbus.

Garden Club

Council Has

Christmas Tea

Council of Pickaway County Garden Clubs held its annual Christmas Tea in the First English Lutheran Church of Ashville recently with the Ashville Garden Club members as hostesses.

Mrs. Bernard Savey, president, presided. She introduced Rev. Robert Michelfelder who gave the invocation and read four poems.

Program chairman, Mrs. W. E. Gibson, presented Mrs. David Dill who sang two numbers, "Thanks Be To God" and "Be The Best Of Whatever You Are."

Mrs. Gibson next introduced the arranger for the afternoon, Mrs. Bill Lockard of the Ashville Village Flower Shop, who made several beautiful arrangements. Her theme was "A Christmas Arrangement For Every Room In Your House."

After drawing for door prizes the ladies were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served from a table decorated in the holiday theme. Mrs. Savey presided at the table.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Spangler, 218 S. Scioto St., have returned from a visit with their son and family, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lyman M. Spangler and children, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

While there they saw the federal prison, Fort Leavenworth Post Museum, where President Eisenhower resided while stationed at Fort Leavenworth during World War II, the Santa Fe and Missouri trail, in Independence, Mo., president Truman's home and the Truman Library; the old jail that held Jesse and Frank James, an old school house and in Lawrence, Kan., the Haskell Indian Institution and Museum.

Pastor Mary Lou B. Henderson, formerly of Circleville, is now residing at 78 E. Lincoln St., London, Ohio 43103.

Dale Hukill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hukill, 916 Lincoln Drive, spent the Thanksgiving holidays as a guest of a classmate at Mattapoisett, Mass.

Guests for the Thanksgiving holiday of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Horning, Knollwood Village, were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin (Vera) Weber and daughters, Ruth Lynn and Lee Ann of Palsades, Calif., and Mr. Horning's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Whitney, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Denman, 225 Northridge Road and Mrs. E. E. Wolf, now residing at the Circleville Home, E. Mound St., were visited last week by their granddaughter, Miss Judi Wolf of New York City. Miss Wolf, who attends Hunter College, arrived with a friend, Miss Caron Todd, to spend Thanksgiving with relatives in Circleville.

Guild 47 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild 47 plans to meet 6 p.m. Wednesday at Wardell's Party Home.

Girl Scouts

Fulfill Pledge

To Aid Others

Girl Scouts promise to help others and each year local Girl Scouts undertake many projects that fulfill this promise. Often they work in support of other agencies. Some of the girls of Cadette Troop 1132 chose to support the Goodwill Industry in their Dolly Derby. The girls found old dolls, washed and groomed them and then made new clothes for them. These dolls will be sold with the proceeds going to Goodwill Industries. The girls dressed 10 dolls.

Other members of the troop decided to aid the Red Cross in its program of providing gifts for the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital Christmas Gift Shop. The patients at the hospital have the opportunity to Christmas shop for their families from these donated gifts. Some of the girls made handmade articles for the shop, others donated jewelry and gift items. They were responsible for 30 separate gifts. Leaders of the troop are Mrs. William Curtis, Mrs. Charles Reid and Mrs. Ronald Lundberg.

Guild 6 Slates

Christmas Party

The date for the Christmas party of Berger Hospital Guild 6 has been changed to Dec. 15. The event to be held at Tink's will begin 6:30 p.m.

Garden Club Council Has Christmas Tea

Council of Pickaway County Garden Clubs held its annual Christmas Tea in the First English Lutheran Church of Ashville recently with the Ashville Garden Club members as hostesses.

Mrs. Bernard Savy, president, presided. She introduced Rev. Robert Michelfelder who gave the invocation and read four poems.

Program chairman, Mrs. W. E. Gibson, presented Mrs. David Dill who sang two numbers, "Thanks Be To God" and "Be The Best Of Whatever You Are."

Mrs. Gibson next introduced the arranger for the afternoon, Mrs. Bill Lockard of the Ashville Village Flower Shop, who made several beautiful arrangements. Her theme was "A Christmas Arrangement For Every Room In Your House."

After drawing for door prizes the ladies were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served from a table decorated in the holiday theme. Mrs. Savy presided at the table.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Spangler, 218 S. Scioto St., have returned from a visit with their son and family, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lyman M. Spangler and children, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

While there they saw the federal prison, Fort Leavenworth Post Museum, where President Eisenhower resided while stationed at Fort Leavenworth during World War II, the Santa Fe and Missouri trail, in Independence, Mo., president Truman's home and the Truman Library; the old jail that held Jesse and Frank James, an old school house and in Lawrence, Kan., the Haskell Indian Institution and Museum.

Pastor Mary Lou B. Henderson, formerly of Circleville, is now residing at 78 E. Lincoln St., London, Ohio 43103.

Dale Hukill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hukill, 916 Lincoln Drive, spent the Thanksgiving holidays as a guest of a classmate at Mattapoisett, Mass.

Guests for the Thanksgiving holiday of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Horning, Knollwood Village, were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin (Vera) Weber and daughters, Ruth Lynn and Lee Ann of Palisades, Calif., and Mr. Horning's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Whitney, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Denman, 225 Northridge Road and Mrs. E. E. Wolf, now residing at the Circleville Home, E. Mound St., were visited last week by their granddaughter, Miss Judi Wolf of New York City. Miss Wolf, who attends Hunter College, arrived with a friend, Miss Caron Todd, to spend Thanksgiving with relatives in Circleville.

Guild 47 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild 47 plans to meet 6 p.m. Wednesday at Wardell's Party Home.

Girl Scouts Fulfill Pledge To Aid Others

Girl Scouts promise to help others and each year local Girl Scouts undertake many projects that fulfill this promise. Often they work in support of other agencies. Some of the girls of Cadette Troop 1132 chose to support the Goodwill Industry in their Dolly Derby. The girls found old dolls, washed and groomed them and then made new clothes for them. These dolls will be sold with the proceeds going to Goodwill Industries. The girls dressed 10 dolls.

Other members of the troop decided to aid the Red Cross in its program of providing gifts for the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital Christmas Gift Shop. The patients at the hospital have the opportunity to Christmas shop for their families from these donated gifts. Some of the girls made handmade articles for the shop, others donated jewelry and gift items. They were responsible for 30 separate gifts. Leaders of the troop are Mrs. William Curtiss, Mrs. Charles Reid and Mrs. Ronald Lundberg.

Guild 6 Slates Christmas Party

The date for the Christmas party of Berger Hospital Guild 6 has been changed to Dec. 15. The event to be held at Tink's will begin 6:30 p.m.

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "First Tuesday" reported in its latest edition that U.S. Army intelligence used undercover agents and electronic equipment during part of 1968 to gather information on demonstrators and protesters as possible troublemakers.

A team lead by reporter Tom Pettit worked for more than six months gathering material and said military intelligence personnel conducted surveillance of events ranging from the funeral of Martin Luther King Jr. and the Poor People's March through the political conventions and the inauguration of President Nixon.

An assortment of former intelligence agents—some identifiable and others with their identity concealed—spoke on the program. Some said they were instructed to infiltrate student protest movements. Others said they were assigned to eavesdrop on meetings or to count people and the number of miles in the Poor People's March. They said that information was gleaned from telephone conversations and estimated that thousands of dossiers were compiled about suspected troublemakers and government officials, appointed and elected.

The agents' reports were couched in unemotional tones, but NBC men used tougher language.

"The United States Army intelligence spies on the protest movement in the United States," declared host Sander Vanocur. Pettit quoted an unidentified informant as describing military intelligence in 1968 and 1969 as "a national secret police."

Urge Speed On Vealey Extradition

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A move has been made to speed up court action on whether to dismiss Claude E. Vealey's appeal of his extradition to Pennsylvania to stand trial in the slayings of United Mine Workers official Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Asst. Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Dennis J. Maguire filed a supplemental brief Tuesday in the 8th District Ohio Court of Appeals. The brief was to prod action on a motion he filed Oct. 22 calling for dismissal of Vealey's appeal because Vealey failed to complete his appeal by Sept. 25 deadline.

Vealey, of Cleveland, had until Nov. 2 to respond to the motion to dismiss the appeal, which has been pending since Aug. 6.

The Yablonskis were slain at their home in Clarksville, Pa., last Dec. 31.

A federal grand jury in Cleveland indicted Vealey and four other persons with conspiracy in the Yablonski slayings. The five have remained in Northern Ohio jails since the federal indictments.

Pennsylvania authorities later charged the five with first-degree murder and have complained about the delay in extraditing Vealey because they want to try him first. Each of the five will be tried separately.

Fair Skies Cover Much Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fair and pleasant weather covered almost the entire nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic today but rain and snow persisted in the Far West.

Temperatures dipped into the crisp 30s and 40s over much of the midcontinent before daybreak, following two days of record mildness, but readings generally remained above normal for early December.

The mercury climbed into the 60s and 70s Tuesday from the central Plains across the Midwest and into the Southeast. Record highs, either for the date or the month, were set in more than a score of cities.

In the Far West, locally heavy snow was forecast in mountain areas of Washington, Oregon and Idaho and warnings to travelers were out for the Sierra Nevada due to snow and blowing snow.

Rain fell intermittently along the coast from San Francisco to Seattle.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 8 below zero at Havre, Mont., to 71 at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Hearing Held On KSU Challenge

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University President Robert I. White was expected to testify today in U.S. District Court here as 32 KSU professors seek an end to the prosecution of 25 persons indicted by a special state grand jury investigating violence at the school last May.

The professors also are seeking to erase the grand jury report which was highly critical of faculty and university administration and exonerated Ohio National Guardsmen involved in the shooting deaths of four students and the wounding of nine others during a confrontation.

Paul Sites, a sociology professor, said he and 22 other faculty members signed a statement issued on May 3, the day before the shootings, in an attempt to calm campus disturbances.

The grand jury condemned the statement and called its issuance "an irresponsible act."

"Freedom of speech means nothing if you can't speak out at critical times," Sites said.

"I firmly believe in law... but when I see a grand jury like this, it makes me wonder where we're headed in terms of this kind of report," the professor said. He added: "I felt outrage when I saw the report. What I thought I was doing was being helpful."

U.S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas permitted professors to testify about any injury the report has had on their freedom of speech and the state of mind it produced.

Sites was asked if the report had any impact on his life and he replied: "We try to put those things out of our minds. But it is impossible to do completely."

Three other professors, Clyde W. Jentoft, Jerry M. Lewis and David J. Dooling, also testified.

Lewis, an assistant professor of sociology, told the court he did not want to put his students in a position to be investigated and had dropped a lecture on collective behavior.

Earlier, Judge Thomas ruled out testimony by the Rev. John W. Simons, a chaplain in the National Guard and rector of Grace Episcopal Church in Wiloughby.

The minister's attorney, Jerry Gordon, asked that his client be permitted to testify in an effort to show that guardsmen killed the students as they were gathered in legal assembly.

"This court cannot, nor should not, assume the role of a super grand jury or a reviewer of propriety of inadequate or incompetent evidence," the judge said in ruling out the testimony.

Sanitation Workers Protest Foreman

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Fifty-five employees of Warren's city sanitation department failed to report to work Tuesday to back demands that a former foreman not be allowed to return to the department.

The workers, members of Local 74 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said they would not work with former foreman Frank Cornicello "because of his attitude toward the men."

Spanish Basques Kidnap Consul For West Germany

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) — Basque terrorists are believed to have kidnapped the honorary West German consul in San Sebastian to hold him hostage for 15 Basque nationalists who go on trial in Burgos Thursday.

Witnesses told police the consul, Eugene Beihl, 59, drove into his garage Tuesday night, then drove out again with other men in his car. Police said a red car with French license plates followed Beihl's sedan.

The West German Embassy in Madrid issued a statement saying: "We know a group of people overwhelmed the consul about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and drove away with his own car with him and another car following. Since then he has vanished."

The embassy said it had received no word "from persons connected with the consul's disappearance." But there was speculation that the ETA, a terrorist group dedicated to achieving independence for the four Basque provinces in north central Spain, abducted Beihl to use him in bargaining for the release of the Basques.

The ETA had said it would retaliate for the trial but did not say how.

The defendants are charged with banditry and terrorism, and 12 of them are expected to be linked with the ETA. The prosecution is expected to ask the death penalty for six of the men. Police said if the ETA kidnapped Beihl, the kidnappers probably would lie low until the trial begins or sentence is passed.

Beihl has lived in Spain for more than 20 years, is married to a Spanish woman and has a 20-year-old daughter.

The Spanish Basques have been fighting for independence for centuries. Numbering about 1.5 million, they make up 5 per cent of Spain's population, and officials of the Spanish government claim they are responsible for 95 per cent of the nation's political terrorism.

The ETA, from the Basque words for "Basque Land and Liberty," was formed in 1953. Sources in the organization say it has 40 to 50 full-time guerrillas, 500 part-time members and "thousands and thousands of sympathizers."

The Spanish government launched a campaign last August to wipe out the ETA after was an old enemy of the organization's murder of a police chief who was.

Man Sentenced In Narcotics Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Wfbert Harris Bunkley, 35, was sentenced to concurrent terms of 10 to 20 and 20 to 40 years in prison Tuesday following his conviction on two charges of possession of heroin for sale.

Bunkley was arrested by Dayton, Ohio and Cincinnati police and federal narcotics agents Nov. 27, at his home.

The federal agents traced the narcotics from New York to Dayton and Cincinnati for the arrest. He was tried in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

"The United States Army intelligence spies on the protest movement in the United States," declared host Sander Vanocur. Pettit quoted an unidentified informant as describing military intelligence in 1968 and 1969 as "a national secret police."

The thorough research was evident during the hour devoted to the report but some of its impact was destroyed by editing which at times seemed mocking and by a musical sound track at another point which was sneering.

The program's first hour was primarily turned over to a report on how the University of Notre Dame under the leadership of President Theodore N. Hesburgh has changed radically to meet today's challenge of its students.

Many restrictions have been loosened, more minorities are represented and views of students are listened to by the administration. Best example of change was the football team's break with tradition to play in a bowl game—"The quickest way to get money for scholarships for blacks and Chicanos," said Vanocur.

It was an affirmative treatment that would have benefited by sharper editing.

Delta Queen May Again Sail River

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio planned to ask the House today to place before a joint House-Senate conference committee measures designed to exempt the riverboat Delta Queen from the 1966 safety-at-sea law.

The House Judiciary Committee approved Tuesday a bill to give the Queen a three-year exemption from the law.

The Senate had previously approved the exemption measure, which was attached to a private House-passed bill.

If the measure gets out of the conference, both the House and Senate must approve all changes in it.

The safety-at-sea law requires vessels carrying 50 or more overnight passengers to have metal superstructures. The Queen is mostly wood.

An old exemption expired early last month and the 46-year-old sternwheeler, owned by Green Lines Inc. of Cincinnati, no longer travels the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

TROUT — The Wise Buy

Trout is a money-wise and nutrition-wise buy at Big Bear this week. Serve it for variety and good health. Sauces enhance fish, but should never disguise it. Lemon sauces using both the peel and juice do just that. For extra flavor with oven-baked or broiled trout, try this zesty sauce.

LEMON HORSE RADISH SAUCE

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1 cup Food Club Mayonnaise | 2 tsp. grated lemon peel |
| ¼ tsp. salt | 1 tbl. freshly squeezed lemon juice |
| ¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce | 1 tbl. finely grated onion |
| 2 tbl. horseradish | |
- Thoroughly combine all ingredients; chill.

DAYS

Derby News

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

On Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. Charles Nance was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCabe of Elaine Rd., Columbus.

Mrs. Nelle Baughan came home from the hospital on Wednesday and tells me she is feeling better now. She is getting along in her new home with Mr. and Mrs. Redman, but misses her many friends here, too. How about some cards to let her know we miss her too? Write in care of B. D. Redman, Blacklick Rd., Reynoldsburg, Ohio, 43068.

Mrs. Carl Vance enjoyed Thanksgiving Day dinner with daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lugenbeel and relatives of the Lugenbeels.

Mrs. Charles Nance was the Thursday overnight guest of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nance and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Hassell Hunicutt and son Lyman, spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewie Kitchen of Louisa, Ky. Also present was Billy Kitchen of Ashland, Ky.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the children and other relatives of Mrs. Marvene Furness who died Sunday evening, Nov. 22 after a long illness. Mrs. Furness was a lifelong resident of Derby, and leaves many friends and neighbors. She was well-liked by those who knew her.

Sympathy also to Emmett Harris whose sister Mrs. Elizabeth Harris passed away on Nov. 18.

Gene Vernon of Route 1, Orient, has been dismissed from

Girl Receives Dad's Kidney

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Valerie Markoch, 15, and her father, an elementary school principal in Springfield, were reported resting comfortably in Cleveland Clinic today following a kidney transplant operation.

A hospital spokesman said doctors were "very confident" of the success of the three-hour operation Tuesday, during which one of William A. Markoch's healthy kidneys was transplanted in his daughter.

If successful, the transplant will permit Valerie to live free of an artificial kidney which has kept her alive since her infected kidneys were removed Nov. 4.

The hospital spokesman said the success of the transplant will not be evaluated for about 10 days.

Springfield residents have contributed nearly $6,000 to a Markoch Fund set up for the family and another $2,000 is expected to be produced by functions being held at the city's North High School, where Valerie was a student.

Del Corso Reviews Guard Operations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso is in Washington this week for a review of operational plans for National Guardsmen responding to civil disturbances.

His aide, Lt. Col. J. E. P. McCann said among the proposals to be discussed is one by Del Corso to arm guardsmen with non-lethal, riot control weapons.

Pogo-Pony

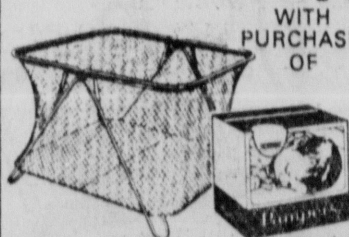

is the remarkable new toy that kids all over America are asking Santa for this Christmas. It's made for boys and girls aged 4 to 10. Indoors or out, the kids can make POGO PONY actually jump up and gallop away. It really moves with the action of a real horse. And it won't mar any floor surface when it's ridden indoors.

We've still got some, but seriously, you'd better get yours while the gettin's good.

Derby News

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

On Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. Charles Nance was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCabe of Elaine Rd., Columbus.

Mrs. Nelle Baughman came home from the hospital on Wednesday and tells me she is feeling better now. She is getting along in her new home with Mr. and Mrs. Redman, but misses her many friends here, too. How about some cards to let her know we miss her too? Write in care of B. D. Redman, Blacklick Rd., Reynoldsburg, Ohio, 43068.

Mrs. Carl Vance enjoyed Thanksgiving Day dinner with daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lugenbeel and relatives of the Lugenbeels.

Mrs. Charles Nance was the Thursday overnight guest of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nance and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Hassell Hunsnicutt and son Lyman, spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewie Kitchen of Louisa, Ky. Also present was Billy Kitchen of Ashland, Ky.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the children and other relatives of Mrs. Marvene Furness who died Sunday evening, Nov. 22 after a long illness. Mrs. Furness was a lifelong resident of Derby, and leaves many friends and neighbors. She was well-liked by those who knew her.

Sympathy also to Emmett Harris whose sister Mrs. Elizabeth Harris passed away on Nov. 18.

Girl Receives Dad's Kidney

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Valerie Markoch, 15, and her father, an elementary school principal in Springfield, were reported resting comfortably in Cleveland Clinic today following a kidney transplant operation.

A hospital spokesman said doctors were "very confident" of the success of the three-hour operation Tuesday, during which one of William A. Markoch's healthy kidneys was transplanted in his daughter.

If successful, the transplant will permit Valerie to live free of an artificial kidney which has kept her alive since her infected kidneys were removed Nov. 4.

The hospital spokesman said the success of the transplant will not be evaluated for about 10 days.

Springfield residents have contributed nearly $6,000 to a Markoch Fund set up for the family and another $2,000 is expected to be produced by functions being held at the city's North High School, where Valerie was a student.

Del Corso Reviews Guard Operations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso is in Washington this week for a review of operational plans for National Guardsmen responding to civil disturbances.

His aide, Lt. Col. J. E. P. McCann said among the proposals to be discussed is one by Del Corso to arm guardsmen with non-lethal, riot control weapons.

Pogo-Pony

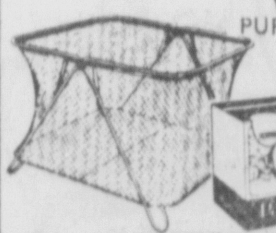

is the remarkable new toy that kids all over America are asking Santa for this Christmas. It's made for boys and girls aged 4 to 10. Indoors or out, the kids can make POGO PONY actually jump up and gallop away. It really moves with the action of a real horse. And it won't mar any floor surface when it's ridden indoors.

We've still got some, but seriously, you'd better get yours while the gettin's good.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Haniel Wortham, 22, was convicted on first-degree murder Tuesday in the June 30 holdup-slaying of restaurant owner Jerry Parmelee. The jury recommended mercy, saving Wortham from the death penalty and making a life prison term mandatory.

Two other men also charged in the slaying, Ronald Lee Garrison, 26, and James Cornett, 21, both of Toledo, are awaiting trial.

Elected County Officials Eye Census For Pay Shift

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elected Ohio county officials will get raises or pay cuts later this month if federal census figures show substantial changes in their counties' populations.

Salaries of elected county officers are determined by county population.

The census figures that decide which way the salaries will move will be available later this month.

Dolph Maslar, executive secretary of the County Commissioners Association, predicts the overall effect on county finances will be "negligible."

Salaries of Portage County commissioners are expected to go from $8,880 a year to $10,260. The population went from 91,798 in 1960 to 123,251 in the 1970 preliminary census count.

Scioto County commissioners are expected to lose salary because the county lost population. Commissioners in Scioto County receive $8,340. They are expected to get $8,040 as a result of the final federal census.

HARA-KIRI — Japanese novelist Yukio Mishima speaks to soldiers from a balcony in Tokyo shortly before committing hara-kiri. Police said he led sword-swinging right-wing fanatics into the army building and plunged a short military sword into his stomach. One of his followers made certain Mishima was dead by beheading him. The author was 45 years old.

Cigarette Ad Ban Fought By Stations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six radio stations, including WMNI in Columbus, Ohio, challenged in federal court Tuesday the new law banning cigarette advertising on radio after Jan. 1.

The joint suit said the ban is discriminatory and violates their rights of free speech under the First Amendment.

Under the law, signed by President Nixon last April 1, it will be unlawful to advertise cigarettes on both radio and television.

The complaint said the new law does not impose the cigarette advertising ban on other forms of informational media such as newspapers and magazines.

It also contended the law is in violation of the First Amendment of freedom of speech by imposing prohibitions on the advertising with respect to a lawfully sold product.

Named as defendants were Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and U.S. Atty. Thomas Flannery of the District of Columbia.

The suit asked that a three-judge panel be convened to hear the case.

The other stations participating in the suit are WTMA, Charleston, S.C.; KVFD, Fort Dodge, Iowa; WLAG, La Grange, Ga.; WNAV, Annapolis, Md.; and WDOV, Dover, Md.

All of the stations are members of the advisory council to affiliates of the Mutual Broadcasting System, but acted as individuals in the suit.

Glenn C. Butler, deputy inspector in the state auditor's office, said final federal census figures will be sent to each county, where it will be determined if a pay hike or reduction is in line.

Butler said pay increases or decreases for the officials are retroactive to April 1, 1970, the date of the census was taken.

Salaries of commissioner, treasurers, recorders, clerk of courts, prosecutors, engineers, coroners and sheriffs are based on final federal figure.

The Ohio Department of Development reports that preliminary census figures show that 68 Ohio counties had population increases during the 1960, while 22 counties lost population.

The pay scale for county elected officials was approved by the Ohio Legislature and went into effect in June 1968.

The legislature established 35 population classes and salaries for the nine elected offices.

Vinton, Morgan and Noble counties falls in the lowest class and pays its auditor, treasurer and sheriff $6,480 a year; its commissioner, $3,900 and its engineer, $11,814.

Cuyahoga County, in the largest class, pays its auditor $21,600 its treasurer, $20,450, its sheriff, $18,960 and its prosecutor and engineer, $21,600.

Conference Awards Are Presented To Players

BANQUET HONORS — These five members of Westfall's 1970 grid squad were presented special honors at the recent fall sports banquet held at the school. Dave Shannon, left front, took top honors as leading passer this season and Dave Eitel, right front, earned the most yardage for his team. Standing, Ron Greenwood was recipient of the Mustang Award, Steve Nevil was the outstanding defensive player and Tom Musselman, outstanding offensive player.

The seventh annual Westfall fall sports banquet was held Nov. 18 in the Westfall High School gym. This banquet honored both the football players and cross country runners.

In football, all SVC honors went to Craig Liston, back and Randy Long, end. Honorable mention went to Wally Ward — end, Tom Mumford — tackle, Gary Underwood — back, Ron Greenwood — linebacker, and Tom Musselman — safety and split end.

Other awards presented were outstanding offensive player to Tom Musselman and outstanding defensive player to Steve Nevil. Ron Greenwood received the Mustang Award.

In the league games, leading carrier went to Dave Eitel who covered 399 yards in 82 carries for a 4.9 average. The leading passer was Dave Shannon who gained 216 yards in 16 completions for a 13.5 average yard coverage per play. This totaled a 38.4 per cent completion. Westfall had 1643 yards in total offense.

Leading tackles went to Ron Greenwood, Tom Musselman, Craig Liston, and Steve Nevil.

Coach Vance stated, "The bulk of this year's squad was made up of freshmen and sophomores." In the last two years, the junior Varsity lost only one of their fifteen games and tied one. This will help build a strong varsity team in later years.

Vance concluded, "I feel that we may have suffered from the inexperience of our young players, but we will eventually profit from their experience this year."

Trail Talk

Has everyone heard Mr. Wright tie his shoe? It's something else!

Vicki Dennis and Sally Minor were chosen to take the DAR Good Citizenship Test.

Has everyone gotten the "point" about the tacks around Westfall?

What teacher keeps getting shut into the office safe? Is it dark in there, Mr. Dean?

Does Mr. Wellington really love the "Andrew Sisters"?

Terry Carter, why do you keep singing in office practice?

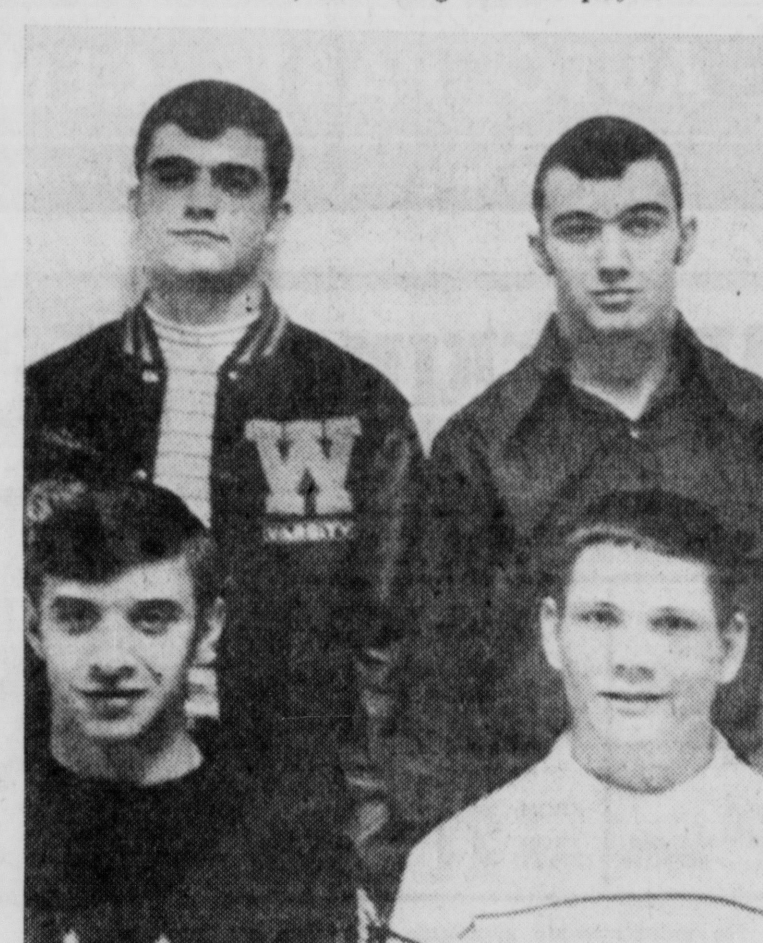

Mr. Dale Rockhold was the guest speaker at the fall sports banquet.

Famous last words of Mr. Hamman: "O.K. We're going to have a quiz; so, get out a piece of paper and a piece of pencil."

Jerrold Fields and Sally Minor were chosen to represent Westfall in the Elks Leadership Contest.

What teacher was shooting rubber bands in English? Do you get detention too, Mr. Bolman?

Why do Jan and Sam's lanes keep getting "decorated" but never their houses? A mile would be a long way to run, wouldn't it?

SCIOTO VALLEY — SVC honors were bestowed on these four who received notice for their efforts on the field this year. Ron Greenwood and Tom Musselman, front, and Gary Underwood, right back, were included among those earning honorable mention in the Conference. Others were Wally Ward and Tom Mumford. Randy Long, shown above, and Craig Liston received all SVC honors.

Coach Vance Looks To '71

As the 1970 Westfall football season came to an end, Coach Bill Vance took the time to recall the past season and look ahead to a successful '71 grid season.

Although this past season was not a complete success, the record being 2-7, the Westfall machine held five opponents to less than 130 yards. Coach Vance "felt the defense was very good in six games we played." He only started three seniors on offense the entire season. "Obviously the offense was very young and improved a lot this season and will improve even more next year," was Vance's comment. "We'll have the whole freshman and sophomore backfield back next year."

Pep Band Reorganized

The month of November brings many things.

The new cold weather brings a close to the football season but not all is lost, for the Westfall Mustang sport fans have new interests turning toward basketball.

With the beginning of the basketball season comes the formation of the pep band. This year is no exception with the seventh annual Westfall Pep Band having already formed under the direction of Mr. Kibby and student-director, Rita Ingman.

The band will serve to add pep to the crowds that come to watch the fighting Mustangs. The band numbers twenty-five in membership and will be playing many of the traditional Westfall marching numbers like "Hang on Sloopy," "Mod Squad," "The Horse," "Hawaii Five-O," and "Fever."

Smiles Are Big Boost To Students

"A smile is worth a thousand words."

Students around Westfall are demonstrating that smiling and being friendly help to make the long dreary day of school fly by. Several students are wearing buttons that simply express a feeling of happiness (a sociopsychological feeling of contentment according to Mr. Holmes). One button emphasizes "Be Friendly" and another merely portrays two black dots for eyes and a huge smile on a yellow background.

These buttons play their biggest role on the first day of the week when everybody suffers from the "Monday Blues." For instance, on Mondays Tom Mumford comes dragging in to first period study hall, droops his head on his desk, and in a slow, growling voice says, "I'm just bushed." This demonstrates the lack of energy on Monday morning until someone looks up and sees a "Smile" button. Then the day is 100 per cent brighter.

The "Mustang Country" staff challenges everyone to make someone's day happier by smiling. The results are heartwarming.

Ohio State Grads Teach At Westfall

ANN FUNK
Science Teacher

This week the Mustang teacher spotlight flashes to both the music and science departments.

Miss Ann Funk attended McArthur High School in McArthur, and then went to Ohio State University where she received a B.S. in education. She teaches general science and monitors the study hall.

Her likes are the color green and flying. When asked why she came to WHS she replied, "I came from a small town and went to school in the city; so Westfall was kind of a compromise."

Miss Funk likes the friendly people at Westfall. She commented, "I want to get the students interested in science and impress upon them that science will be a part of their lives."

Miss Rachel Ford was a graduate of Mifflin High School in Columbus. She attended Ohio State University where she received a B.S. in education. For the past five years she has taught instrumental music at Belle Center in Logan County.

Her activities include teaching vocal music at Westfall and Monroe, and being an advisor to the Drama Club.

Miss Ford's likes are listed as pepsi, music, and good clean jokes. She dislikes people you can't depend upon and any piano that goes out of tune quickly.

When asked what she thought about the students at Westfall, she replied, "I think they are a pretty darn good student body."

Miss Ford finished by saying, "I would like to build an excellent high school vocal music department this year."

Kinds Of Fear Are Revealed

This week the roving reporters again hit the halls of Westfall, but with a new question: "What is fear?"

Mr. Hamman: Walking to lunch.

J. Steele: Getting your report card.

D. Diffendal: That Mike might tear out another transmission on his car (his tenth).

Mr. Wellington: Meeting a Westfall student driver coming in the opposite direction on the same road.

N. Morgan: Kicking a little, green tin can in the parking lot and finding out it's Mr. Hamman's car.

B. Van Hoose: Watching "Chiller Theater" by myself.

R. Ingman: When Mr. Bolman starts talking to his Mickey Mouse watch.

B. Wimmer: When the watch talks back!

Mrs. Ogle: That little red flashing light in my rear view mirror.

P. Neff: Remembering all those fallacies in Bolman's class.

Mr. Ewing: Where my mailbox will be tomorrow! (It was on the gym dome the last time!)

Beef: Nothing!

Mr. Holmes: Getting a hair cut.

B. Shannon: Tomorrow.

B. Lance: When you're called to the office, but it turns out just to be a phone call.

C. Whitesed: Doing "Chicken Fat" — especially when you haven't got any!

B. Beatty: Riding home with Craig Liston.

P. Williams: Icepick breaking up with Dave.

Conference Awards Are Presented To Players

BANQUET HONORS — These five members of Westfall's 1970 grid squad were presented special honors at the recent fall sports banquet held at the school. Dave Shannon, left front, took top honors as leading passer this season and Dave Eitel, right front, earned the most yardage for his team. Standing, Ron Greenwood was recipient of the Mustang Award, Steve Nevil was the outstanding defensive player and Tom Musselman, outstanding offensive player.

The seventh annual Westfall fall sports banquet was held Nov. 18 in the Westfall High School gym. This banquet honored both the football players and cross country runners.

In football, all SVC honors went to Craig Liston, back and Randy Long, end. Honorable mention went to Wally Ward — end, Tom Mumford — tackle, Gary Underwood — back, Ron Greenwood — linebacker, and Tom Musselman — safety and split end.

Other awards presented were outstanding offensive player to Tom Musselman and outstanding defensive player to Steve Nevil. Ron Greenwood received the Mustang Award.

In the league games, leading carrier went to Dave Eitel who covered 399 yards in 82 carries for a 4.9 average. The leading passer was Dave Shannon who gained 216 yards in 16 completions for a 13.5 average yard coverage per play. This totaled a 38.4 per cent completion. Westfall had 1643 yards in total offense.

Leading tackles went to Ron Greenwood, Tom Musselman, Craig Liston, and Steve Nevil.

Coach Vance stated, "The bulk of this year's squad was made up of freshmen and sophomores." In the last two years, the junior Varsity lost only one of their fifteen games and tied one. This will help build a strong varsity team in later years.

Vance concluded, "I feel that we may have suffered from the inexperience of our young players, but we will eventually profit from their experience this year."

Trail Talk

Has everyone heard Mr. Wright tie his shoe? It's something else!

Vicki Dennis and Sally Minor were chosen to take the DAR Good Citizenship Test.

Has everyone gotten the "point" about the tacks around Westfall?

What teacher keeps getting shut into the office? Is it dark in there, Mr. Dean?

Does Mr. Wellington really love the "Andrew Sisters"?

Terry Carter, why do you keep singing in office practice?

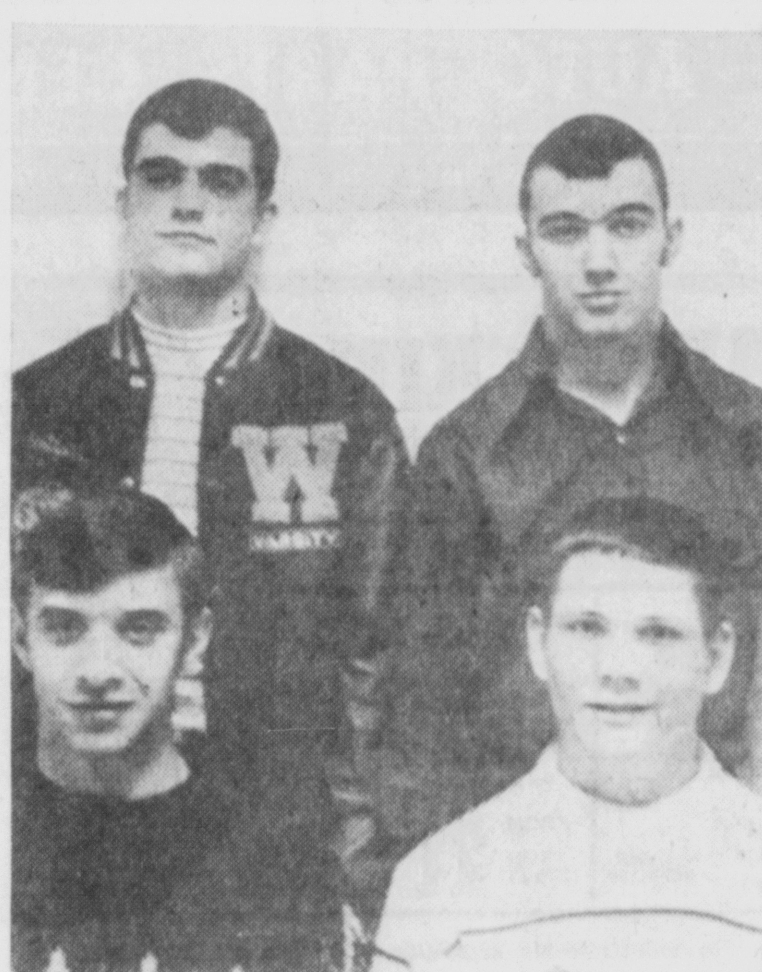

Mr. Dale Rockhold was the guest speaker at the fall sports banquet.

Famous last words of Mr. Hamman: "O.K. We're going to have a quiz; so, get out a piece of paper and a piece of pencil."

Jerrold Fields and Sally Minor were chosen to represent Westfall in the Elks Leadership Contest.

What teacher was shooting rubber bands in English? Do you get detention too, Mr. Bolman?

Why do Jan and Sam's lanes keep getting "decorated" but never their houses? A mile would be a long way to run, wouldn't it?

SCIOTO VALLEY — SVC honors were bestowed on these four who received notice for their efforts on the field this year. Ron Greenwood and Tom Musselman, front, and Gary Underwood, right back, were included among those earning honorable mention in the Conference. Others were Wally Ward and Tom Mumford, Randy Long, shown above, and Craig Liston received all SVC honors.

Coach Vance Looks To '71

As the 1970 Westfall football season came to an end, Coach Bill Vance took the time to recall the past season and look ahead to a successful '71 grid season.

Although this past season was not a complete success, the record being 2-7, the Westfall machine held five opponents to less than 130 yards. Coach Vance "felt the defense was very good in six games we played." He only started three seniors on offense the entire season. "Obviously the offense was very young and improved a lot this season and will improve even more next year," was Vance's comment. "We'll have the whole freshman and sophomore backfield back next year."

The Junior Varsity has bombed their opponents for the past two years, losing only one game and tying one. Due to this, Vance feels that '71 will be the year for the Mustangs.

Environmental Protection Agency Is Officially Born

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency, a kind of federal gladiator in the war against pollution, was born today.

Unique in both scope and potential muscle, EPA is mandated to establish and enforce anti-pollution standards, administer financial grants and technical aid, conduct research, and help develop a national environmental policy.

That makes it the supreme federal pollution fighter, and all the more so because it assembles under one roof existing anti-pollution programs formerly scattered among the Interior Department, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Department of Agriculture, and Atomic Energy Commission.

EPA is the third new environment-related agency established by President Nixon in 1970—and the fourth cornerstone to a federal environment structure that greatly resembles the unfinished pyramid depicted on the back of a dollar bill.

One corner of the pyramid is the Interior Department, which retains jurisdiction over federal land, and a number of mineral and water resources.

The second corner is the Council on Environmental Quality, a three-member panel of advisers to the president.

The third is the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration, a new branch of the Commerce Department established Oct. 3 to balance development with environmental safeguards in the oceans.

EPA completes the reorganization originally planned by Nixon, although further changes may be under consideration.

Even as EPA became a legal reality, William D. Ruckelshaus, director of the Justice Department's civil law division, was still testifying before the Senate, which has yet to confirm his nomination as director of EPA.

But Ruckelshaus has been installed at EPA's new offices in downtown Washington for almost a month now, working out the necessary organizational transition.

The new outfit, after all, must pull together some 5,500 employees and budgets, which totaled $1.4 billion in fiscal 1971.

While Ruckelshaus will not reveal details until he is sworn in—probably next week—EPA likely will be structured along traditional lines:

—A segment for water pollution, paralleling the Federal Water Quality Administration drawn from the Interior Department.

—Segments on air pollution, and solid waste management from HEW.

—Pesticide controls from the Agriculture Department.

—And environmental radiation from HEW and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The big question is just how forceful EPA will be in setting and enforcing standards of purity for the nation's air and water.

Ruckelshaus would like to achieve compliance by industry and others with anti-pollution standards by gentle persuasion, if possible, but he says he learned, during his days in the Indiana state attorney general's office, that you may have to prosecute a few offenders before the others can be persuaded.

Officer Indicted In Slaying Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Patrolman Robert A. Morgan was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on a civil rights violation charge resulting from the fatal shooting of a suspected burglar.

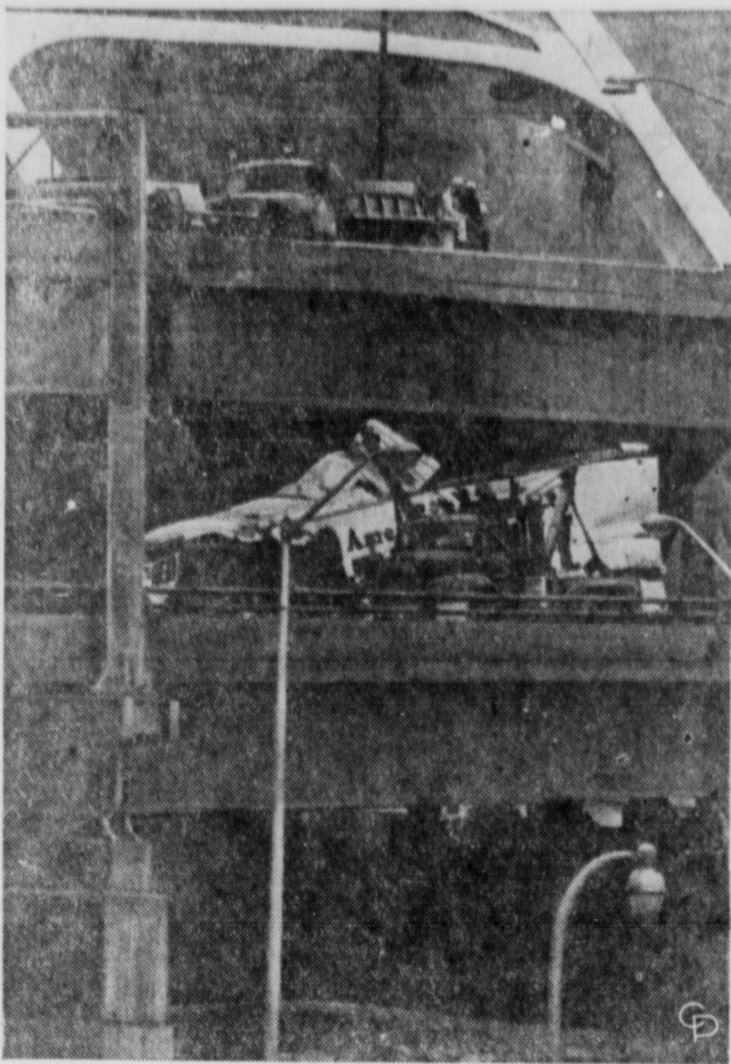

Charles James Cook Jr., 18, was shot to death Jan. 1 as he hid under a basement work bench in a West Side home. Morgan carried a .30-caliber carbine which had been converted into a machinegun, a weapon not authorized by the police department.

The indictment said Morgan did "willfully shoot and kill with intent of inflicting summary judgment . . ." on the victim and thus deprived him of rights to due process of law.

Savings Bond Sales For County Reported

Ohio sales of Series E & H United States Savings Bonds in October were $25.3 million. The State attained 82.3 per cent of its 1970 sales goal October 31, with total sales of $255.7 million.

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, Pickaway County Volunteer Savings Bonds Chairman, reported October sales of Savings Bonds in the County were $274,588. At the end of October, the County achieved 68.1 per cent of its annual sales goal.

FALLING TRUCK KILLS CAR PASSENGER—Wreckage of a tractor-trailer lies twisted on a ramp of the Ft. Pitt bridge in Pittsburgh after it failed to make a curve and fell on a car traveling west. One of the car passengers, Rudy Cincala, 44, was killed, and four other persons, including the truck driver, were injured.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official weather bureau summary for Ohio:

New temperature records were set for the first day of December yesterday in most sections of Ohio as high readings ranged from 62 at Youngstown and in the Ashtabula area to 72 along the Ohio River.

Thursday, high pressure will move off the Atlantic coast as a low pressure area develops in the plains states.

The low pressure will also be moving rapidly eastward, possibly bringing showers to Ohio.

Low temperatures tonight will be 35 to 45.

The extended outlook for the weekend calls for colder weather with possible snow flurries in northern Ohio.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Increasing cloudiness tonight, low from mid 30s to mid 40s. Thursday, considerable cloudiness with showers likely, high 50 to 60. Friday, turning colder with chance of showers, mostly north portion.

NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE, EAST LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND—Increasing cloudiness tonight, low in the mid 30s. Thursday cloudy with showers likely, high in the 50s. Friday, turning colder with chance of showers.

Order County To Cut Down Tax Appraisals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Board of Tax Appeals ordered Cuyahoga County Tuesday to reduce 1970 tax appraisals of industrial and commercial property to bring them in line with appraisals of residential and agricultural land.

The board said the county valued industrial and commercial property at 97 per cent of sales value and residential and agricultural land at only 88 per cent.

Cuyahoga County Auditor Ralph Perk was told to lower industrial property appraisals from $1.4 billion to $1.3 billion and commercial property assessments from $3.4 billion to $3.1 billion.

Ohio Juvenile Detention Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly 10,000 children were held in Ohio jails last year, mainly because no separate detention facilities for juveniles were available, according to a survey by the Ohio Committee on Crime and Delinquency.

The group also reported that 43 Ohio counties have no court-operated juvenile detention homes.

Roughly 75 per cent of the law enforcement and court officials who responded to the commission survey said they recognized a need for separate juvenile detention centers, but most cited citizen apathy as the reason such facilities do not exist or are inadequate.

The survey also indicated that charges on which juveniles were most often jailed were "of a non-crime type, such as truancy, runaway and incorrigibility."

Most of the children detained were 15 or 16 years old. Their stays in jail ranged from 15 minutes to eight months, according to the survey.

The commission released the survey's findings in preparation for its statewide conference Thursday to promote citizen action at the local level on juvenile detention, police-community relations and drug abuse.

Ohio Newsman, Priest To Deliver Letters To Reds

PIQUA, Ohio (AP)—A newspaper man and a Catholic priest left for Paris today with 100,000 letters asking for more humane treatment of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

These letters are all addressed to the Viet Cong delegation," said Jim DeWeese, assistant news editor of the Piqua Daily Call. "They ask the Viet Cong to abide by the Geneva Convention which that government (North Vietnam) became a party to in 1957."

The pair expects to deliver the mail Friday.

"They also ask for release of all servicemen who are listed as missing in action and that the International Red Cross be allowed to inspect all prison camps."

DeWeese, 38, and the Rev. John J. Foley of New York City will be couriers for the letters.

The letters were gathered in recent months by the Dayton chapter of the National League of Families, and its Piqua counterpart, called Letters for Lives. The Piqua group gathered more than 30,000 letters and the Dayton group more than 65,000.

DeWeese will deliver the Piqua letters while the priest, a distant relative of an unidentified prisoner of war, will handle the mail gathered at Dayton.

The letters weigh 1,800 pounds and will fill 10 U.S. Mail bags. DeWeese said he became interested in the program last year when the family of Maj. William Baugh, an Air Force bomber pilot captured in 1967, received its first letter from him.

"I wrote the first story about the letter being received," DeWeese said, "and several follow-up stories surrounding Maj. Baugh and his family."

He said Baugh was on a plane shot down over North Vietnam Jan. 21, 1967. So far his wife, Mary, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baugh, all of Piqua, have received seven letters from him.

In addition to the letters, DeWeese will take a personal gift for Baugh from the major's family.

"I hope it will be delivered before Christmas as a gift from his family," he said. "It's just some small containers of medicine, jig saw puzzles and other items to help keep his mind alert."

DeWeese said he also will visit the South Vietnamese embassy in Paris to ask about Spec. 5 Charles Huston, a native of nearby Houston, Ohio, an Army Green Beret who disappeared in combat March 26, 1968.

He is missing in action," DeWeese said, "and his mother, Mrs. Betty Huston, doesn't know whether he is dead or alive."

DeWeese said he is not a member of the Letters for Lives committee but did participate in gathering letters on city streets, in schools and in businesses.

"The Piqua Daily Call ran two special sections pertaining to the POW situation," DeWeese said. "We got most of the 29,000 letters in the past six weeks. About 5,000 of them were hand written. The others were sample letters The Daily Call published in both English and in Vietnamese."

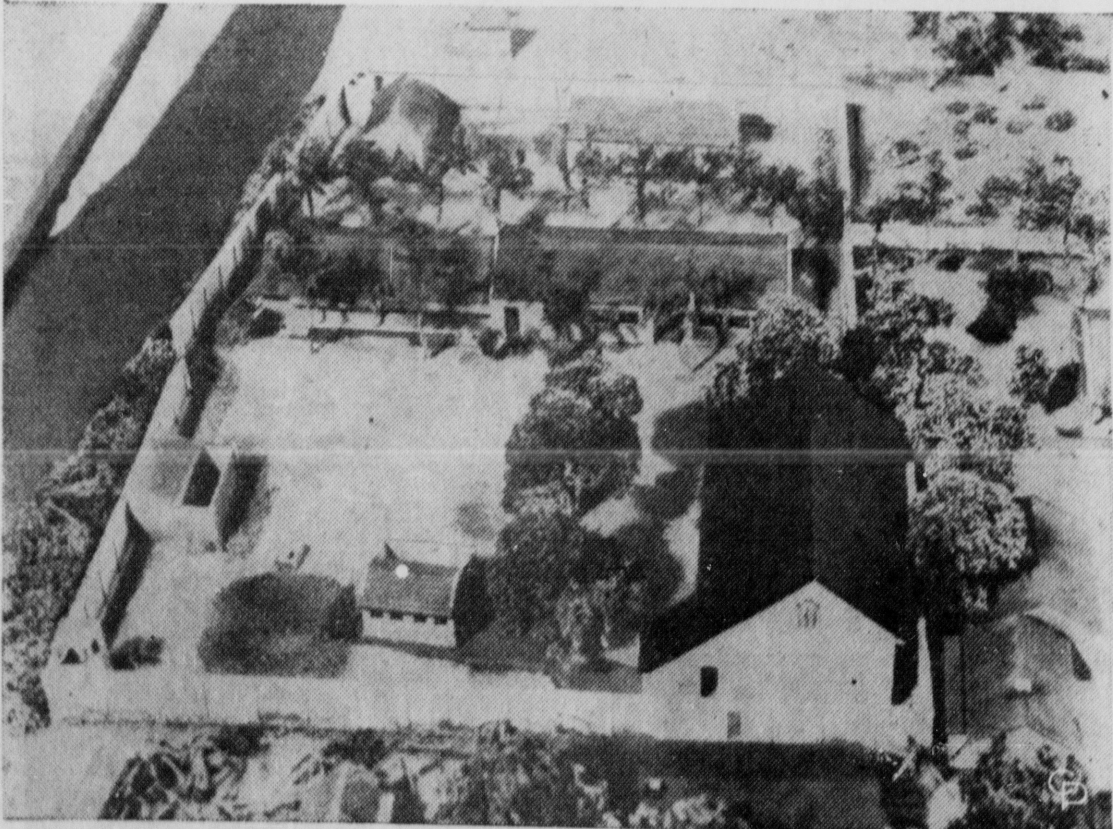

DeWeese, who has never been in Paris, said he was chosen to deliver the mail because the National League of Families felt this was a job for an average American.

"The Viet Cong would be more apt to make propaganda of this if the letters were carried by a prominent or influential person," he said.

"I'll get there Thursday afternoon and immediately get the North Vietnamese Embassy to make an appointment," he added. He said he will attempt to see peace delegates Xuan Thuy, Mi Van Bo or Madam Binh, in that order.

"If they don't accept the mail then I will go to a post office there and mail it all to the North Vietnamese embassy in Paris."

All of the letters bear American stamps.

Environmental Protection Agency Is Officially Born

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency, a kind of federal gladiator in the war against pollution, was born today.

Unique in both scope and potential muscle, EPA is mandated to establish and enforce anti-pollution standards, administer financial grants and technical aid, conduct research, and help develop a national environmental policy.

That makes it the supreme federal pollution fighter, and all the more so because it assembles under one roof existing anti-pollution programs formerly scattered among the Interior Department, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Department of Agriculture, and Atomic Energy Commission.

EPA is the third new environment-related agency established by President Nixon in 1970—and the fourth cornerstone to a federal environment structure that greatly resembles the unfinished pyramid depicted on the back of a dollar bill.

One corner of the pyramid is the Interior Department, which retains jurisdiction over federal land, and a number of mineral and water resources.

The second corner is the Council on Environmental Quality, a three-member panel of advisers to the president.

The third is the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration, a new branch of the Commerce Department established Oct. 3 to balance development with environmental safeguards in the oceans.

EPA completes the reorganization originally planned by Nixon, although further changes may be under consideration.

Even as EPA became a legal reality, William D. Ruckelshaus, director of the Justice Department's civil law division, was still testifying before the Senate, which has yet to confirm his nomination as director of EPA.

But Ruckelshaus has been installed at EPA's new offices in downtown Washington for almost a month now, working out the necessary organizational transition.

The new outfit, after all, must

Ohio Juvenile Detention Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly 10,000 children were held in Ohio jails last year, mainly because no separate detention facilities for juveniles were available, according to a survey by the Ohio Committee on Crime and Delinquency.

The group also reported that 43 Ohio counties have no court-operated juvenile detention homes.

Roughly 75 per cent of the law enforcement and court officials who responded to the commission survey said they recognized a need for separate juvenile detention centers, but most cited citizen apathy as the reason such facilities do not exist or are inadequate.

The survey also indicated that charges on which juveniles were most often jailed were "of a non-crime type, such as truancy, runaway and incorrigibility."

Most of the children detained were 15 or 16 years old. Their stays in jail ranged from 15 minutes to eight months, according to the survey.

The commission released the survey's findings in preparation for its statewide conference Thursday to promote citizen action at the local level on juvenile detention, police-community relations and drug abuse.

Volunteer Driver Needed By PICCA

A volunteer is needed by the PICCA Day Care Center to drive children home from the center each week day. It was announced today by Mrs. Sarah Carithers.

The car will be furnished by PICCA. Mrs. Carithers said the driving would require about 90 minutes each afternoon. Anyone wishing to volunteer may call Mrs. Carithers at 474-7411 or 474-7452.

Ohio Newsman, Priest To Deliver Letters To Reds

PIQUA, Ohio (AP)—A newspaper man and a Catholic priest left for Paris today with 100,000 letters asking for more humane treatment of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

These letters are all addressed to the Viet Cong delegation," said Jim DeWeese, assistant news editor of the Piqua Daily Call. "They ask the Viet Cong to abide by the Geneva Convention which that government (North Vietnam) became a party to in 1957.

The pair expects to deliver the mail Friday.

"They also ask for release of all servicemen who are listed as missing in action and that the International Red Cross be allowed to inspect all prison camps."

DeWeese, 38, and the Rev. John J. Foley of New York City will be couriers for the letters.

The letters were gathered in recent months by the Dayton chapter of the National League of Families, and its Piqua counterpart, called Letters for Lives.

The Piqua group gathered more than 30,000 letters and the Dayton group more than 65,000.

DeWeese will deliver the Piqua letters while the priest, a distant relative of an unidentified prisoner of war, will handle the mail gathered at Dayton.

The letters weigh 1,800 pounds and will fill 10 U.S. Mail bags.

DeWeese said he became interested in the program last year when the family of Maj. William Baugh, an Air Force bomber pilot captured in 1967, received its first letter from him.

"I wrote the first story about the letter being received," DeWeese said, "and several follow-up stories surrounding Maj. Baugh and his family."

He said Baugh was on a plane shot down over North Vietnam Jan. 21, 1967. So far his wife, Mary, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baugh, all of Piqua, have received seven letters from him.

In addition to the letters, DeWeese will take a personal gift

for Baugh from the major's family.

"I hope it will be delivered before Christmas as a gift from his family," he said. "It's just some small containers of medicine, jig saw puzzles and other items to help keep his mind alert."

DeWeese said he also will visit the South Vietnamese embassy in Paris to ask about Spec. 5 Charles Huston, a native of nearby Houston, Ohio, an Army Green Beret who disappeared in combat March 26, 1968.

He is missing in action," DeWeese said, "and his mother, Mrs. Betty Huston, doesn't know whether he is dead or alive."

DeWeese said he is not a member of the Letters for Lives committee but did participate in gathering letters on city streets, in schools and in businesses.

"The Piqua Daily Call ran two special sections pertaining to this of the POW situation," DeWeese said. "We got most of the 20,000 letters in the past six weeks. About 5,000 of them were hand written. The others were sample letters The Daily Call published in both English and in Vietnamese."

DeWeese, who has never been in Paris, said he was chosen to deliver the mail because the National League of Families felt this was a job for an average American.

"The Viet Cong would be more apt to make propaganda of this if the letters were carried by a prominent or influential person," he said.

"I'll get there Thursday afternoon and immediately get the North Vietnamese Embassy to make an appointment," he added. He said he will attempt to see peace delegates Xuan Thuy, Mi Van Bo or Madam Binh, in that order.

"If they don't accept the mail then I will go to a post office there and mail it all to the North Vietnamese embassy in Paris.

All of the letters bear American stamps.

Officer Indicted In Slaying Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Patrolman Robert A. Morgan was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on a civil rights violation charge resulting from the fatal shooting of a suspected burglar.

Charles James Cook Jr., 18, was shot to death Jan. 1 as he hid under a basement work bench in a West Side home.

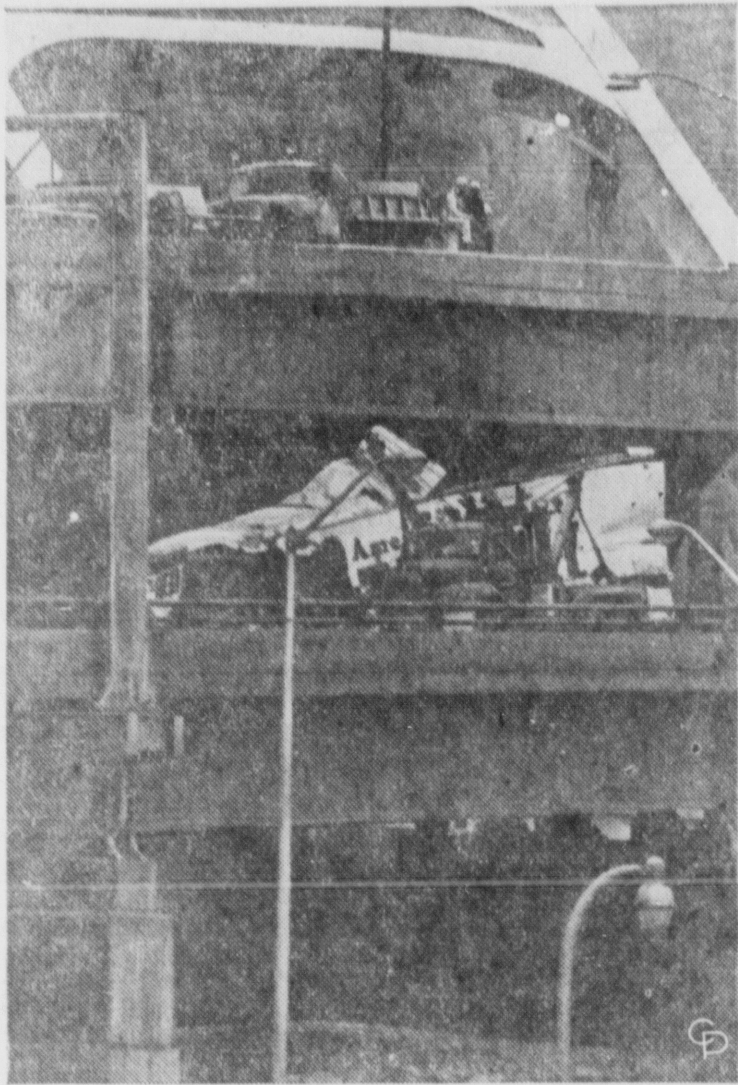

Morgan carried a .30-caliber carbine which had been converted into a machinegun, a weapon not authorized by the police department.

The indictment said Morgan did "willfully shoot and kill with intent of inflicting summary judgment . . ." on the victim and thus deprived him of rights to due process of law.

Savings Bond Sales For County Reported

Ohio sales of Series E & H United States Savings Bonds in October were $25.3 million. The State attained $2.3 per cent of its 1970 sales goal October 31, with total sales of $255.7 million.

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, Pickaway County Volunteer Savings Bonds Chairman, reported October sales of Savings Bonds in the County were $274,588. At the end of October, the County achieved 68.1 per cent of its annual sales goal.

Order County To Cut Down Tax Appraisals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Board of Tax Appeals ordered Cuyahoga County Tuesday to reduce 1970 tax appraisals of industrial and commercial property to bring them in line with appraisals of residential and agricultural land.

The board said the county valued industrial and commercial property at 97 per cent of sales value and residential and agricultural land at only 88 per cent.

Cuyahoga County Auditor Ralph Perk was told to lower industrial property appraisals from $1.4 billion to $1.3 billion and commercial property assessments from $3.4 billion to $3.1 billion.

Heavy Basketball Slate Set For County Schools

The hardboards will be resounding with the echo of the ball hitting the hoop this week as all three county schools will see action both Friday and Saturday nights.

Teays Valley will be at home to West Jefferson Friday and host Grove City Saturday. Logan Elm will meet Piketon Friday on the Braves' court and travel to Westfall Saturday in a battle of county rivals and Westfall will be on the road at Madison South Friday and host Logan Elm Saturday.

Top Cage Teams Win In Openers

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Artis Gilmore and Austin Carr picked up where they left off on the courts and Adolph Rupp continued to do his thing from the bench as Jacksonville, Notre Dame and Kentucky justified their preseason rankings with victories Tuesday night in the opening of the collegiate basketball season.

Gilmore, the towering 7-foot-2 center for Jacksonville, methodically poured in 50 points, snared 29 rebounds and slapped down 11 enemy shots as the Dolphins, fourth-ranked in The Associated Press preseason poll, mangled visiting Biscayne College 132-88.

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, trailing an aroused Michigan squad 43-39 at halftime, woke up in the second half and, with Carr earning a game-high 38 points, the Irish overhauled the home-town Wolverines 94-81.

Rupp, the winningest collegiate coach since the hoop was invented, chalked up triumph No. 837 as Kentucky's third-rated Wildcats snapped a 79-79 tie midway in the second half and clawed upset-minded Northwestern 115-100 in Evanston, Ill.

The top two teams, defending champion UCLA and second-rated South Carolina, open their seasons later this week with the Bruins taking on Baylor on Friday and SC facing Auburn Thursday.

The only two other teams in the Top Ten in opening-night action got off on the right foot as eighth-ranked Villanova fought off a second-half rally by host Philadelphia Textile and beat points," Teays Valley Coach Bob Hoover commented, "but turnovers have been killing us. We have some good boys and once we settle down and play ball we should be in good shape."

The Vikings will probably go with Bob Tucker and Steve Bumgarner at the guards, Don Neff at center and Jeff Helder and Jeff Sheets at the forwards.

THEY will go with the offense that has been putting points on the board for them and will utilize a sticky man to man

LA Defense Nips Bullets In NBA Action

Basketball teams are always using offensive spears to win games, but how many times do you hear of a defensive flurry?

That's what the Los Angeles Lakers used Tuesday night to beat the Baltimore Bullets 97-93 in a National Basketball Association game.

With the Lakers leading 95-93, first Wilt Chamberlain and then Jerry West came up with consecutive clutch defensive gems to save the game. Chamberlain blocked a shot by Earl Monroe and then West followed by blocking a shot by Kevin Loughery in the final seconds. Gail Goodrich then added two free throws to seal the victory.

On the offensive side, the Chicago Bulls scored 17 straight points and went on to a 107-91 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers, and the New York Knicks shot 68.2 per cent from the field in the first half and breezed to a 114-109 triumph over Seattle.

In other games, Boston squeezed past Buffalo 117-116 in overtime for its fifth victory in a row. San Diego turned back Portland 120-114 and San Francisco overcame Atlanta 113-106.

There were no games in the American Basketball Association.

The Bullets had trouble scoring earlier against the Lakers, going the first six minutes of the third period without scoring and falling 12 points back after holding a 51-50 halftime lead.

Monroe, who scored 33 points, helped bring them back, but West, who hit 37, and Chamberlain cut short the rally.

The Bulls were behind 59-52 in the third quarter before rattling off their 17 as Jerry Sloan and Tom Borwick each scored six points. Chot Walker topped Chicago with 28 points and Dennis Awtry was high for Philadelphia with 17.

The Knicks shot into a 67-52 halftime lead and coasted to their six consecutive victory as the final score was the closest: the Sonics got Willis Reed had 35 points and 20 rebounds, Walt Frazier 23 and 10 and Dave DeBusschere 22 and 12 for the Knicks while Len Wilkens scored 29 points for Seattle.

defense.

West Jefferson also is having its troubles getting started and have not played up to its potential.

The Roughriders are powered by Snyder and Ryan who are 6-foot-7 and 6-foot-4 and hurt you on the boards. They will utilize a 1-2-2 zone defense with a half court press.

Grove City will bring a strong, well-coached club to Teays Valley and have two boys who are 6-foot-4.

Westfall will be trying to get back on the winning trail again when they meet Madison South. They won their first two ball games before dropping a contest last week.

The scrappy Mustangs will probably start Randy Alkire and Bruce Beatty at the guards, Larry Kempton at center and Jerry Williams and John Valone at the forward posts. Larry Harris, the Mustangs sixth man, will see plenty of action in the battles.

DOUG McKay, a tough 5-foot-8 guard has been ill all week and may not be ready for the weekend encounters.

Madison South will be a real test for the Westfall cagers as they are a good shooting ball club with a lot of hustle. They will shift their defense from a man to man into a zone to keep the offense off balance.

The Lions are paced by John Whitaker, 5-foot-11 guard, who is one of the finest payers in the area.

All the records can be thrown out the window for Saturday's contest when Westfall and Logan Elm mix it up. When these two county rivals meet anything can happen and usually does.

Westfall must be able to contain the Braves' big center, Mark Knece, if it hopes to be successful and this has proved a hard thing to do.

One thing is certain about this clash — you had better be there early if you want to get a seat.

LOGAN Elm and Piketon meet in the first Scioto Valley Conference clash of the season Friday when the Redstreaks invade the Braves' cage court.

It is the only meeting of the year between the two Conference rivals. Piketon has long been cellar-dweller of the SVC but this year the Redstreaks have a new coach in Ray Taylor, a graduate of Eastern High School in Pike County.

Logan Elm is still looking for its first win after two close losses to The Plains of Mt. Sterling and the Carroll Bulldogs.

Andy Russell Wins Honor For Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Linebacker Andy Russell of the Pittsburgh Steelers was named Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League today—and maybe that will remind him what he did to Leroy Kelly and the Cleveland Browns last week.

Russell, a 29-year-old six-year veteran who as a rookie with Pittsburgh roomed with Cleveland quarterback Bill Nelsen, was one of the keys to a defensive unit that held Kelly to no yards gained rushing in 10 carries last Sunday in a 28-9 upset victory.

That catapulted the Steelers into a three-way tie with the Browns and Cincinnati Bengals for first place in the Central Division of the American Conference and brought Russell the weekly Associated Press award.

Russell lost his memory during the third period, after making two sensational plays, and played the remainder of the game in an amnesic condition.

"I got a little dinged," he explained. "But I don't know how. I couldn't remember anything except the defenses. We were winning 14-9 the last I remember. Suddenly I looked up and said, 'Hey, it's 28-9.'"

Russell had just made two outstanding plays from his right linebacking position with Cleveland in control of its own 42. First he slid off a block and stopped Kelly for no gain on a screen pass, then shot in on Nelsen and threw him for an 11-yard loss.

But then it didn't just happen. "I study the game so I can get the jump," Russell explained. "I like to know exactly what the offense is doing. I feel more aggressive now than I did when I was a rookie."

Nelsen could believe that. But he laughingly brushed aside Russell's memory lapse.

Palmer Late Coral Springs Open Entrant

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, still seeking his first individual victory of the year, was a late entrant in the $125,000 Coral Springs Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer had said earlier that he probably would close out his season in last week's Heritage Classic, in which he was the defending champion. But he failed to win—finishing in a tie for third behind Bob Goalby and amateur Lanny Wadkins—and filed an entry for this one the next-to-last event on the tour schedule this year.

"We'll just see how it goes," the 41-year-old giant of the game said. "I might play next week. It depends on what happens in this one."

It's not secret he wants desperately to keep alive his string of having won at least one event a year since he scored his initial professional victory in the 1955 Canadian Open.

His last triumph was exactly a year ago when he charged past Gay Brewer in the final round of the Danny Thomas-Diplomat Open, no longer on the schedule.

It hasn't been a bad year, by most standards. He's won more than $120,000, finished second three times and been in the top 10 in about 60 per cent of his starts.

But his only victory was a shared one. He teamed with Jack Nicklaus in winning the National Four-Ball Championship. He hasn't won alone, however, and now has only two more chances to keep alive his 15-year string.

Jeff Reisinger Impressive In College Debut

JEFF REISINGER

Jeff Reisinger, 6-6 freshman from Kingston, has made an impressive start with the unbeaten Anderson Junior College Trojans basketball team, Anderson, S. C.

Reisinger is the team's leading rebounder, having pulled down 35 in three games for an 11.7 average per contest. He is also one of four players averaging in double figures in the scoring column, owning a 10.7 average.

The Kingston native also has the second best field goal percentage on the team, 12 of 18 for 66.7 per cent. He has made eight of 10 at the foul line for 80 per cent.

Anderson College, 20-11 last season, is off to a 3-0 start this point per game.

"Jeff is one of the best freshman players we've ever had," said AC Coach Jim Wiles, whose team is a contender for the title in the Western Carolinas Junior College Conference.

"He's a hard worker and has a lot of talent. His rebounding and scoring have been impressive in our early games," added Wiles.

Monroe, who scored 33 points, helped bring them back, but West, who hit 37, and Chamberlain cut short the rally.

The Bulls were behind 59-52 in the third quarter before rattling off their 17 as Jerry Sloan and Tom Borwick each scored six points. Chot Walker topped Chicago with 28 points and Dennis Awtry was high for Philadelphia with 17.

The Knicks shot into a 67-52 halftime lead and coasted to their six consecutive victory as the final score was the closest: the Sonics got Willis Reed had 35 points and 20 rebounds, Walt Frazier 23 and 10 and Dave DeBusschere 22 and 12 for the Knicks while Len Wilkens scored 29 points for Seattle.

LA Defense Nips Bullets In NBA Action

Basketball teams are always using offensive spears to win games, but how many times do you hear of a defensive flurry?

That's what the Los Angeles Lakers used Tuesday night to beat the Baltimore Bullets 97-93 in a National Basketball Association game.

With the Lakers leading 95-93, first Wilt Chamberlain and then Jerry West came up with consecutive clutch defensive gems to save the game. Chamberlain blocked a shot by Earl Monroe and then West followed by blocking a shot by Kevin Loughery in the final seconds. Gail Goodrich then added two free throws to seal the victory.

On the offensive side, the Chicago Bulls scored 17 straight points and went on to a 107-91 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers, and the New York Knicks shot 68.2 per cent from the field in the first half and breezed to a 114-109 triumph over Seattle.

In other games, Boston squeezed past Buffalo 117-116 in overtime for its fifth victory in a row. San Diego turned back Portland 120-114 and San Francisco overcame Atlanta 113-106.

There were no games in the American Basketball Association.

The Bullets had trouble scoring earlier against the Lakers, going the first six minutes of the third period without scoring and falling 12 points back after holding a 51-50 halftime lead.

Monroe, who scored 33 points, helped bring them back, but West, who hit 37, and Chamberlain cut short the rally.

The Bulls were behind 59-52 in the third quarter before rattling off their 17 as Jerry Sloan and Tom Borwick each scored six points. Chot Walker topped Chicago with 28 points and Dennis Awtry was high for Philadelphia with 17.

Highway Safety Program Presented At Circleville

HIGHWAY SAFETY — Duane Carter, former Indianapolis 500 race driver, is now touring the country speaking to high school students on the importance of safe driving. Carter, who spent 32 years behind the wheel of the power buggies, concluded his racing career in the mid sixties and is now a representative of the Champion Spark Plug Safety Program.

A highway safety program, featuring an Indianapolis 500 miles race driver, was presented in Circleville High School Tuesday.

Featuring Duane Carter, who has completed at Indianapolis and other tracks throughout the nation, the program is now in its 16th year and has been seen by more than 12,000,000 students in more than 7,000 high schools. It was brought to Circleville by Clifton Auto Parts Inc.

The program has been long recognized by educators and law enforcement officers as a unique method of impressing teenagers with the responsibilities they must assume once they obtain a driver's license.

Launched in 1953 with only one driver, the program was such a success that additional Indianapolis stars were added to the team. Today 10 well-known Indy driver comprise the regular group in the program.

Awards from the National Safety Council, the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Public Relations Society of America, the United States Auto Club and Continental Casualty Insurance Company have been presented to Champion Spark Plug Company of Toledo for developing and maintaining the program.

"Continued requests from principals who have seen the presentation, and those who have heard about it, make us feel the Indianapolis drivers are making a real impression on students," say R.A. Stranahan, Jr., president and chairman of the board of Champion. "We know from numerous surveys the majority of high school students are fine drivers. Comments from educators indicate we are getting through to the small percentage who give the young generation such a black eye."

"When such a student hears from a professional that needlessly spinning wheels is the mark of a juvenile and would cause a race driver to be sidelined, that 'showoff' driving practices bar a racer from competing, he identifies with the driver and in a great many instances changes his bad driving habits," Mr. Stranahan continued.

Whenever possible, a film is part of the presentation. The color movie was made at Indianapolis and shows the extent drivers, mechanics and speedway officials go to insure safe race conditions.

Carter has spent 32 years in racing and has appeared on every major race track in the United States. In addition to domestic racing, he has appeared in Australia, New Zealand, South America and Europe.

Five times he has finished in the first 10 at Indianapolis and on four of those instances, he qualified for the Champion 100

Mile An Hour Club, reserved for those drivers who complete the 500 miles without relief and at an average speed of more than 100 miles an hour. Last May he was elected president of the club.

Carter is a member of the California Highway Safety Commission and is chairman of the sub-committee for teenage driving activities.

Braves, Mustangs Resume Rivalry

Heavy Basketball Slate Set For County Schools

The hardboards will be resounding with the echo of the ball hitting the hoop this week as all three county schools will see action both Friday and Saturday nights.

Teays Valley will be at home to West Jefferson Friday and host Grove City Saturday. Logan Elm will meet Piketon Friday on the Braves' court and travel to Westfall Saturday in a battle of county rivals and Westfall will be on the road at Madison South Friday and host Logan Elm Saturday.

"We have been scoring points," Teays Valley Coach Bob Hoover commented, "but turnovers have been killing us. We have some good boys and once we settle down and play ball we should be in good shape."

The Vikings will probably go with Bob Tucker and Steve Bumgarner at the guards, Don Neff at center and Jeff Helsner and Jeff Sheets at the forwards.

THEY will go with the offense that has been putting points on the board for them and will utilize a sticky man to man defense.

West Jefferson also is having its troubles getting started and have not played up to its potential.

The Roughriders are powered by Snyder and Ryan who are 6-foot-7 and 6-foot-4 and hurt you on the boards. They will utilize a 1-2-2 zone defense with a half court press.

Grove City will bring a strong, well-coached club to Teays Valley and have two boys who are 6-foot-4.

Westfall will be trying to get back on the winning trail again when they meet Madison South. They won their first two ball games before dropping a contest last week.

The scrappy Mustangs will probably start Randy Alkire and Bruce Beatty at the guards, Larry Kempton at center and Jerry Williams and John Valone at the forward posts. Larry Harris, the Mustangs sixth man, will see plenty of action in the battles.

DOUG McKay, a tough 5-foot-8 guard has been ill all week and may not be ready for the weekend encounters.

Madison South will be a real test for the Westfall eagles as they are a good shooting ball club with a lot of hustle. They will shift their defense from a man to man into a zone to keep the offense off balance.

The Lions are paced by John Whitaker, 5-foot-11 guard, who is one of the finest payers in the area.

All the records can be thrown out the window for Saturday's contest when Westfall and Logan Elm mix it up. When these two county rivals meet anything can happen and usually does.

Westfall must be able to contain the Braves' big center, Mark Kneec, if it hopes to be successful and this has proved a hard thing to do.

One thing is certain about this clash — you had better be there early if you want to get a seat.

Palmer Late Coral Springs Open Entrant

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, still seeking his first individual victory of the year, was a late entrant in the $125,000 Coral Springs Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer had said earlier that he probably would close out his season in last week's Heritage Classic, in which he was the defending champion. But he failed to win—finishing in a tie for third behind Bob Goalby and amateur Lanny Wadkins—and filed an entry for this one the next-to-last event on the tour schedule this year.

"We'll just see how it goes," the 41-year-old giant of the game said. "I might play next week. It depends on what happens in this one."

It's not secret he wants desperately to keep alive his string of having won at least one event a year since he scored his initial professional victory in the 1955 Canadian Open.

His last triumph was exactly a year ago when he charged past Gay Brewer in the final round of the Danny Thomas-Diplomat Open, no longer on the schedule.

It hasn't been a bad year, by most standards. He's won more than $120,000, finished second three times and been in the top 10 in about 60 per cent of his starts.

But his only victory was a shared one. He teamed with Jack Nicklaus in winning the National Four-Ball Championship. He hasn't won alone, however, and now has only two more chances to keep alive his 15-year string.

Top Cage Teams Win In Openers

By BRUCE LOWITT Associated Press Sports Writer

Artis Gilmore and Austin Carr picked up where they left off on the courts and Adolph Rupp continued to do his thing from the bench as Jacksonville, Notre Dame and Kentucky justified their preseason rankings with victories Tuesday night in the opening of the collegiate basketball season.

Gilmore, the towering 7-foot-2 center for Jacksonville, methodically poured in 50 points, snared 29 rebounds and slapped down 11 enemy shots as the Dolphins, fourth-ranked in The Associated Press preseason poll, mangled visiting Biscayne College 132-88.

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, trailing an aroused Michigan squad 43-39 at halftime, woke up in the second half and, with Carr earning a game-high 38 points, the Irish overhauled the home-town Wolverines 94-81.

Rupp, the winningest collegiate coach since the hoop was invented, chalked up triumph No. 837 as Kentucky's third-rated Wildcats snapped a 79-79 tie midway in the second half and clawed upset-minded Northwestern 115-100 in Evanston, Ill.

The top two teams, defending champion UCLA and second-rated South Carolina, open their seasons later this week with the Bruins taking on Baylor on Friday and SC facing Auburn Thursday.

Andy Russell Wins Honor For Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Linebacker Andy Russell of the Pittsburgh Steelers was named Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League today—and maybe that will remind him what he did to Leroy Kelly and the Cleveland Browns last week.

Russell, a 29-year-old six-year veteran who as a rookie with Cleveland quarterbacked Bill Nelsen, was one of the keys to a defensive unit that held Kelly to no yards gained rushing in 10 carries last Sunday in a 28-9 upset victory.

That catapulted the Steelers into a three-way tie with the Browns and Cincinnati Bengals for first place in the Central Division of the American Conference and brought Russell the weekly Associated Press award.

Russell lost his memory during the third period, after making two sensational plays, and played the remainder of the game in an amnesic condition.

"I got a little dinged," he explained. "But I don't know how. I couldn't remember anything except the defenses. We were winning 14-9 the last I remember. Suddenly I looked up and said, 'Hey, it's 28-9.'"

Russell had just made two outstanding plays from his right linebacking position with Cleveland in control of its own 42. First he slid off a block and stopped Kelly for no gain on a screen pass, then shot in on Nelsen and threw him for an 11-yard loss.

But then it didn't just happen. "I study the game so I can get the jump," Russell explained. "I like to know exactly what the offense is doing. I feel more aggressive now than I did when I was a rookie."

Nelsen could believe that. But he laughingly brushed aside Russell's memory lapse.

Jeff Reisinger Impressive In College Debut

JEFF REISINGER

Jeff Reisinger, 6-6 freshman from Kingston, has made an impressive start with the unbeaten Anderson Junior College Trojans basketball team, Anderson, S. C.

Reisinger is the team's leading rebounder, having pulled down 35 in three games for an 11.7 average per contest. He is also one of four players averaging in double figures in the scoring column, owning a 10.7 average.

The Kingston native also has the second best field goal percentage on the team, 12 of 18 for 66.7 per cent. He has made eight of 10 at the foul line for 80 per cent.

Anderson College, 20-11 last season, is off to a 3-0 start this point per game.

"Jeff is one of the best freshman players we've ever had," said AC Coach Jim Wiles, whose team is a contender for the title in the Western Carolinas Junior College Conference.

"He's a hard worker and has a lot of talent. His rebounding and scoring have been impressive in our early games," added Wiles.

Collier Sets Retirement

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns Coach Blanton Collier said Tuesday that his decision to announce his voluntary retirement at the end of this season was made to take pressure off his struggling football team.

Collier publicly announced his retirement Tuesday after telling his players of his decision after Sunday's 28-9 loss to Pittsburgh. He had told Browns' owner Art Modell and Harold Sauerbrey, the team's general manager, of his decision before the season began.

"I didn't tell the players at the beginning of the season because I wanted the team to win on its own merits," Collier said. "I didn't want them to have the extra burden of perhaps trying to do something for a coach who was retiring."

The Browns have posted only a 5-6 record this season, but are tied for first place with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the American Football Conference's Central Division.

"I let the players know about it on Sunday because I felt that it might take some pressure off them," said Collier, who has won 74 games, lost 33 and tied two in eight years as head coach. "I didn't want them to feel that they had to win games for me to save my job."

Collier, who will be 65 in July, said he had seen other coaches forced to retire and "I didn't want my coaches' clothes cut off me."

"I always wanted to be the one to say when I leave," he added.

Collier, only the second head coach in Browns' history, joined Paul Brown in organizing the Browns in the All-American Conference in 1946. He had spent 16 previous years coaching high school teams in Kentucky.

He left the Browns to become head coach at the University of Kentucky in 1954, the compiled a 41-36-3 mark at Kentucky before returning to the Browns as an assistant coach in 1962. He took over the Browns after Brown was fired after the 1962 season.

Collier said Tuesday that he wanted to remain in the Browns' organization in some capacity. Modell said a position would be offered him.

Buckeyes, Northwestern, Michigan Dominate Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's champions and Michigan and Northwestern, the runners-up, dominated the 1970 Associated Press All-Big Ten football team named Monday.

The team was selected by a 12-man board of sports reporters from the Big Ten area.

Champion Ohio State, the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative, had three unanimous selections. They were fullback John Brockington, linebacker Jim Stillwagon and defensive back Jack Tatum.

Other Buckeyes to make the defensive-offensive teams were guard Phil Strickland, center Tom DeLeone and safety Mike Sensibaugh, who missed being a unanimous choice by one vote.

Michigan was represented by end Paul Staroba, tackle Dan Dierdorf and quarterback Don Moorhead on offense. Wolverines making the defensive team were end Phil Seymour and tackle Pete Newell and Henry Hill.

Northwestern landed four players on offense, including tackle John Rodman, guard Mike Sikich, running back Mike Adams and flanker Barry Pearson.

The Wildcats, making their best showing in the Big Ten since 1948, also placed defensive back Eric Hutchinson.

Adams was a unanimous choice as the pudge 5-11, 190 pounder set 11 Northwestern records and six Big Ten marks.

Rounding out the offensive team was end Larry Mialik of Wisconsin and completing the defensive unit were end Bill Gregory of Wisconsin, back Jeff Wright of Minnesota, and linebacker Chuck Winfrey of Wisconsin.

Tatum, Ohio State's tremendous rover back, made the team a third straight year. Oddly enough, there were no sophomores on the predominantly senior squad. The only juniors to make the grade were Mialik, DeLeone, Pearson, Hutchinson and Light.

Len Dawson Named Top On Offense

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Quarterback Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs has been named the National Football League's top offensive player of the week.

The 35-year-old backbone of Chiefs has been named Offensive Player of the Week in both the National Football League and the old American Football League.

"This means a lot to me," said Dawson, selected Tuesday for his performance in the Chiefs' 26-14 victory Sunday over the San Diego Chargers that put Kansas City in a first place tie with Oakland in the American Conference West Division.

However, he refused to take all of the credit.

"I was named several times in the AFL," Dawson said. "It's even more significant now because it's honoring one offensive player off of 26 teams. When a quarterback receives this type of award, it's obvious the team is doing a good job. I can't throw the ball and catch it at the same time."

During the early years of his pro career, Dawson spent most of his time on the bench with Pittsburgh and Cleveland of the NFL. He didn't have a chance to win any honors with either team.

Vancouver Canucks Top Philadelphia, 5-4

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers dominated the game but not goalie George Gardner as he helped the Vancouver Canucks to a 5-4 National Hockey League victory Tuesday night.

Gardner kicked away 44 of the Flyers' 48 shots to keep Vancouver within a goal of Philadelphia with just over five minutes left in the game, only NHL action of the night.

Collier Sets Retirement

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns Coach Blanton Collier said Tuesday that his decision to announce his voluntary retirement at the end of this season was made to take pressure off his struggling football team.

Collier publicly announced his retirement Tuesday after telling his players of his decision after Sunday's 28-9 loss by Pittsburgh. He had told Browns owner Art Modell and Harold Sauerbrey, the team's general manager, of his decision before the season began.

"I didn't tell the players at the beginning of the season because I wanted the team to win on its own merits," Collier said. "I didn't want them to have the extra burden of perhaps trying to do something for a coach who was retiring."

The Browns have posted only a 5-6 record this season, but are tied for first place with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the American Football Conference's Central Division.

"I let the players know about it on Sunday because I felt that it might take some pressure off them," said Collier.

who has won 74 games, lost 33 and tied two in eight years as head coach. "I didn't want them to feel that they had to win games for me to save my job."

Collier, who will be 65 in July, said he had seen other coaches forced to retire and "I didn't want my coaches' clothes cut off me."

"I always wanted to be the one to say when I leave," he added.

Collier, only the second head coach in Browns' history, joined Paul Brown in organizing the Browns in the All-American Conference in 1946. He had spent 16 previous years coaching high school teams in Kentucky.

He left the Browns to become head coach at the University of Kentucky in 1954, the compiled a 41-36-3 mark at Kentucky before returning to the Browns as an assistant coach in 1962. He took over the Browns after Brown was fired after the 1962 season.

Collier said Tuesday that he wanted to remain in the Browns' organization in some capacity. Modell said a position would be offered him.

Buckeyes, Northwestern, Michigan Dominate Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's champions and Michigan and Northwestern, the runners-up, dominated the 1970 Associated Press All-Big Ten football team named Monday.

The team was selected by a 12-man board of sports reporters from the Big Ten area.

Champion Ohio State, the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative, had three unanimous selections. They were fullback John Brockington, linebacker Jim Stillwagon and defensive back Jack Tatum.

Other Buckeyes to make the defensive-offensive teams were guard Phil Strickland, center Tom DeLeone and safety Mike Sensibaugh, who missed being a unanimous choice by one vote.

Michigan was represented by end Paul Staroba, tackle Dan Dierdorf and quarterback Don Moorhead on offense. Wolverines making the defensive team were end Phil Seymour and tackles Pete Newell and Henry Hill.

Northwestern landed four players on offense, including tackle John Rodman, guard Mike Sikich, running back Mike Adamle and flanker Barry Pearson.

The Wildcats, making their best showing in the Big Ten since 1948, also placed defensive back Eric Hutchinson.

Adamle was a unanimous choice as the pudgy 5-11, 190 pounder set 11 Northwestern records and six Big Ten marks.

Rounding out the offensive team was end Larry Mialik of Wisconsin and completing the defensive unit were end Bill Gregory of Wisconsin, back Jeff Wright of Minnesota, and line-backer Chuck Winfrey of Wisconsin.

Tatum, Ohio State's tremendous rover back, made the team a third straight year. Oddly enough, there were no sophomores on the predominantly senior squad. The only juniors to make the grade were Mialik, DeLeone, Pearson, Hutchinson and Light.

TAKE ISSUE WITH POPE—These two octogenarian cardinals are taking issue with Pope Paul VI's new decree barring cardinals of 80 years and older from participating in future papal elections. French Cardinal Eugene Tisserant, 86, implies that the pope is a sick man, and (right) Italian Cardinal Alfredo Ottaviani, 80, accuses the pope of overriding church tradition and law.

The 35-year-old backbone of Chiefs has been named Offensive Player of the Week in both the National Football League and the old American Football League.

"This means a lot to me," said Dawson, selected Tuesday for his performance in the Chiefs' 26-14 victory Sunday over the San Diego Chargers that put Kansas City in a first place tie with Oakland in the American Conference West Division.

However, he refused to take all of the credit.

"I was named several times in the AFL," Dawson said. "It's even more significant now because it's honoring one offensive player off of 26 teams. When a quarterback receives this type of award, it's obvious the team is doing a good job. I can't throw the ball and catch it at the same time."

During the early years of his pro career, Dawson spent most of his time on the bench with Pittsburgh and Cleveland of the NFL. He didn't have a chance to win any honors with either team.

Vancouver Canucks Top Philadelphia, 5-4

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers dominated the game but not goalie George Gardner as he helped the Vancouver Canucks to a 5-4 National Hockey League victory Tuesday night.

Gardner kicked away 44 of the Flyers' 48 shots to keep Vancouver within a goal of Philadelphia with just over five minutes left in the game, only NHL action of the night.
